Britain's armored legions, already within 10 miles of long-besieged Tobruk after an 80-mile advance in 36 hours, today were reported seeking out the "spinal column" of Axis strength in North Africa for a showdown battle of tanks, planes and men.

"The main battle has not yet been joined," a British spokesman said tersely.

"All we have is news of movements and a certain amount of fighting but nothing on a large scale yet."

Cairo military headquarters said armored British spearheads were knifing into Axis siege lines around Tobruk while other columns by-passed the stronghold on the south.

It was indicated that at least part of the Axis forces which have ringed Tobruk for more than six months, constantly shelling and bombing the tiny British garrison, were now caught between fires.

Military observers said Gen. Erwin Rommel's German corps was the chief opposition in the struggle on the Libyan desert sands and that the British were maneuvering to engage the corps in a decisive battle.

Prime Minister Winston Churchill said yesterday that the outcome might be decided "within a few hours," but apparently the Germans were cau-

Don't Those Guys Trust Each Other?

LONDON —(INS)— An Istanbul dispatch to the London Daily Mail set forth the following today:

1—Italy is fortifying Brenner Pass against its Axis partner, Germany.

2—Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini are quarreling over air force and army allocations in Russia and Libya.

The dispatch credited these bits of information to a "neutral informant" who has just reached Istanbul.

MIXTURE DUE

All Kinds of Weather Looms For Mansfield's Week-End.

The weatherman's forecast for the week-end resembled a patchwork quilt in its variety today, and it contained mostly unpleasant news.

After promising clearing and colder weather for tonight, he predicted cloudy with light rain turning to snow Saturday night and much colder for Saturday night and Sunday.

Mansfield's wee bit of Indian summer temperatures ended abruptly last night when the mercury dropped to 31, one degree below freezing. It was still 31 at noon today as partly overcast skies kept the sun from doing much about the chill.

Wintry weather was on its way into Ohio today from the Canadian northwest where the mercury was near zero. Along the northern border, Duluth, Minn., reported a low of 17 this morning.

MANSFIELDER IN U. S. ARMY DIES

Private William Donald Doty Killed In Missouri Auto Crash, Parents Told.

A youthful Mansfield soldier was killed late yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding collided with another car near Springfield, Mo., not far from his training base.

Pvt. William Donald Doty, 25, of Olivesburg road, was the soldier who was killed. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Doty, were informed of his death in a telegram from officials at Camp Leonard Wood, Mo., early today. Details of the accident were not forwarded immediately.

Doty was inducted into the army on June 12 and had recently been transferred to Camp Leonard Wood from Fort Francis Warren, Wyo. He came home two weeks ago after receiving word that his father, who has been ill for six weeks, was in a critical condition. Doty returned to his post four days ago. His father is still seriously ill in General hospital.

SCAVENGERS ARE LAKEWOOD PEST

Police Issue Warning To Dealers Who Hunt Scrap Metal.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Scrap metal scavengers have become the scourge of suburban Lakewood.

The rising demand for scrap metal that can be converted to defense uses has resulted in an influx of junk dealers. Seeking to cash in on this demand, dealers scour the suburb—street by street — poling through rubbish set out on residents' lawns for collection by the city.

Receiving reports of their activities, Police Captain Charles J. Cossairt of Lakewood today warned scrap scavengers that they are subject to arrest for violation of an ordinance prohibiting tampering with rubbish on private property.

SKIDS CAUSE MISHAPS

Funeral To Be Held Tomorrow For Shiloh Youth Killed Thanksgiving Morning.

Seven serious accidents in the Mansfield area over the Thanksgiving holiday brought death to four persons and injury to five others. At least 16 were killed in other accidents over the state.

Dead today as the result of auto crashes were a Kent mail carrier whose car was wrecked near Loudonville, a Tiro mother who was fatally injured when her son's auto crashed into a pole near Willard, a 60-year-old Bellefontaine woman killed in a head-on collision, and a Shiloh youth who was killed early yesterday when his car skidded off state route 13 about six miles north of Mansfield.

John S. Clingler, 45, Kent, suffered fatal injuries yesterday at 11 p. m. when his car failed to negotiate a turn on state route 3, four miles south of Loudonville, and crashed in a ditch. He was returning home from Junction City where he had visited his mother who was celebrating her 80th birthday along with Thanksgiving. Clingler, who was a mail carrier, died of a fractured skull.

Riding with her son, John, Mrs. Leonora Akers, 43, of Tiro, received fatal injuries yesterday when his auto hit a utility pole after skidding on state route 98, west of Plymouth. Mrs. Akers died in the Willard Municipal hospital six hours after the accident. Her son, who was driving her to Plymouth where they planned to visit relatives, was not injured.

Roosevelt Approves Defense Roads Bill Under Protest.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt today signed the so-called $220,000,000 defense highway authorization bill under protest.

The chief executive adressed letters to Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn., and Rep. Cartwright (D) Okla., who sponsored the legislation, complaining about the inclusion in the bill of a considerable amount of highway construction which could easily have been left for normal times.

Mr. Roosevelt told his press conference that the only reason he had signed the new bill was because it did provide a large sum which was urgently needed for highways directly involved in the defense program.

Fights Dampen Lewis Harmony Gesture at CIO Convention

(By International News Service)

DETROIT—John L. Lewis today ordered his lieutenant at the National CIO convention in Detroit to deliver the nominating speech for re-election of Phil Murray as president of the big labor organization, while delegates dampened that gesture of harmony by their many fist fights.

All officers of the CIO were expected to be re-elected later in the day in what convention leaders planned to make a noisy demonstration of unity.

Thomas P. Kennedy, secretary treasurer of the United Mine Workers' union and close friend of both Murray and Lewis, was selected to make the nominating speech for Murray, apparently in a move to discount reports that Murray and Lewis had split.

Election of officers was expected to wind up the convention which started Monday, although

QUESTION'S BASIC

Senator Proposes Freezing of War Fronts In China, For Arbitration.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — The United States has offered Japan access to all the raw materials she needs if she will abandon force as an instrument of national policy, it was learned today.

Whether Japan will alter her course in order to participate in the economic program which reliable sources said the United States has offered is one of the basic questions in discussions now going on between Secretary of State Cordell Hull and two of Japan's diplomats, Saburo Kurusu and Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura.

Another suggestion came today from Sen. Elbert D. Thomas, D., Utah, a member of the senate foreign relations committee and one of the senate's leading experts on Oriental affairs. He believes that the crux of Japan's difficulties with the United States is her pact with Nazi Germany and suggested that agreement between Japan and China to "freeze" military lines and arbitrate a territorial settlement might solve the U. S.-Japanese crisis.

Thomas proposed that a seven or nine man American commission undertake to arbitrate such a settlement.

He emphasized that this country could not back down on its policy of aid to China or make a settlement based on China's yielding territory outright to Japan; nor could Japan, he conceded, merely denounce its accord with Germany. It would have to follow proper

BOMB WAS ONLY CASE OF 'BOO!'

Company Guard Had Opened It And Rewound 'Mechanism.'

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A suspected bomb at Thompson Products, incorporated, was found today to be only a ticking alarm clock.

The clock in its paper wrapping was smothered with sandbags and guarded by two city policemen in a vacant parking lot for 12 hours —the time bomb experts allowed for the mechanism to run down— before a company guard revealed he had unwrapped, rewound and rewrapped it.

FBI agents and Cleveland police bomb experts were called to the bomb scare scene in Thompson's No. 3 plant. Police said the clock belonged to a worker who used it to time himself and his fellow workers so they would know when they were earning piece-work bonuses.

67 Draftees From County In Capital For Physical Exam

Sixty-seven Richland county young men went to Columbus this morning in the first group of selective service registrants to be examined under the new centralized examination plan.

In the contingent of prospective selectees were 66 from the Board 2 district and one transfer from out of the county. Clerk Bryan Styert of the board said most of them were expected to return to their homes tonight following the physical check-ups at the Fort Hayes induction station. It is possible, he said, that a few may be required to stay over night in Columbus for x-rays or additional physical tests.

Included in the Board 2 group were about 20 registrants who have already been examined in Mansfield but have not been called for induction. Under the new plan, all men not inducted must be examined by the physicians in Columbus.

Boards 1 and 3 will send more than 150 registrants to Columbus next Tuesday and Wednesday as the boards prepare for December and January calls.

With the centralized examination plan in operation, examinations at the Mansfield Armory will virtually be eliminated.

Girls' Club Starts House Numbering In E. Mansfield

Stepping out of the usual 4-H club role, members of the Sunny Sewers club in East Mansfield today began a project to allot house numbers in the suburban community on U. S. Route 30 east of the city.

Under the direction of Mrs. Donna Them and Mrs. Thelma Brightbill, club advisors, the 36 girls in the club plan to have their project completed by Saturday. There are 125 houses in the community and a survey by the 4-H group showed that families in 118 of them wanted their houses numbered.

The girls started today at the corporation line on the Wooster road to number the houses, beginning with "500." Numbers of homes on side streets will begin with "1." The even numbers will be on the south and west sides of the streets and the odd numbers on the north and east sides, opposite of the numbering system used in Mansfield.

Organized in 1940, the Sunny Sewers club is headed by Louise Briggs as president. The members are from 10 to 16 years old. Most of them, however, are under 14. The club adopted the house numbering project as one of its community objectives last spring.

Although most of the clubs in the county concluded their year's work in September, the Sunny Sewers club continued its work and expects to meet throughout the winter.

Guns Blaze In Hour's Battle; 3 Pickets Hit

Strikers Claim Non-Union Men Waylaid And Ambushed Them; Company Official Says Captive Mine Being Worked; Sympathy Walkouts Spread.

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH—Guns blazed again today in the coal fields of Fayette county, wounding at least 10 men in the most serious flareup of the five-day-old United Mine Workers strike for a union shop in the steel company owned "captive" mines.

Hundreds of shots were fired as the battle between pickets and non-strikers raged for more than an hour along a valley road leading to the H. C. Frick Coke company's Edenborn mine, 18 miles north of Uniontown, where three pickets were wounded in gun-play yesterday.

Three wounded men, who identified themselves as pickets, were treated at the Uniontown hospital and seven at Brownsville. John Stepanik, 26, of Coal Center, one of those taken to the Uniontown hospital, claimed the pickets were waylaid by non-union men.

"We were ambushed near the company store and shot down without warning," said Stepanik, who was shot in the hip.

Despite the gunfire, Mine Superintendent Edward Mason reported "a number of our men went into the mine and are working."

Most of the wounded were released from hospitals. Only one was described as seriously hurt.

The Edenborn mine is one of 34 captive mines in western Pennsylvania producing coal for the big steel companies. The H. C. Frick Coke company, a subsidiary of the U. S. Steel corporation, operates nearly a score of the mines in Fayette county and has claimed operations have been going on at 25 per cent of normal since the strike was called five days ago.

Whereas the company claims about 3,400 men are still working in the Fayette mines, the union places the figure at about 300.

From 25,000 to 28,000 captive pit miners in western Pennsylvania are involved in the strike for a union shop, which would require minors to join the union after a stipulated period of employment. The Edenborn mine employs 882 men.

Walkouts in sympathy with the "captive" mine strike have spread to 76 commercial mines in western Pennsylvania, employing more than 46,000 men. The commercial mines produce coal for the open market.

District Attorney H. Vance Cottom of Fayette county announced the arrest of one miner on charges of aggravated assault and battery and assault with intent to kill in WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt indicated today he will withhold further action in the captive coal mine strike until after John L. Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers union meets with the UMW policy committee here tomorrow.

The president told a press conference that he expected to hear tomorrow from Lewis and the policy committee on his request for settlement of the strike by freezing open shop conditions in the captive pits for the duration of the emergency or by submitting this issue to arbitration, agreeing in advance to accept the arbitration decision as final.

Other than this brief comment, the president said there was no news from him on the coal situation, or on the general subject of labor legislation which has been suggested to curb strikes that interfere with defense production.

Sailor Bill Forgets Girl In All Ports for Josephine

(Picture on Page 3)

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Sailor Bill Langford has forgotten every girl in every port, except the one he had breakfast with this morning in a hotel suite 38 floors above Manhattan's streets—his 19-year-old bride, Josephine Phillips, whom he met two months ago in Central park.

They had walked up Fifth avenue last night, just as they had walked the night they met, when Bill found her crying on a park bench. They went to a night club offering Hawaiian music, because Bill had fond memories of Hawaii.

At the Hotel New Yorker, where the management had given them a suite in tribute to romance, they danced to the music of Benny Goodman and Benny dedicated a tune to them —"You and I."

Bill carried Josephine across the threshold of their rooms. They drank champagne and laughed, and sucked lollypops they had bought on Forty-Second street.

Bill has leave until Monday, when he will report at the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Josephine will live in a small apartment in Philadelphia.

When police picked her up in the park on a charge of vagrancy (her sentence later was suspended), Bill read about it and proposed marriage. Yesterday the ceremony took place in Garfield, N. J., and Bill and Josephine celebrated with an 11-second kiss.

BRITISH KNIFE AXIS 'CIRCLE' ABOUT TOBRUK

tious about accepting the challenge.

A bulletin from British military headquarters said British tanks sighted a German tank force 30 miles west of Fort Capuzzo, near the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, but that the Nazi force "withdrew before it could be brought to battle."

The communique said an unspecified number of Italian tanks and 150 Fascist prisoners were taken in a clash at Bir El Gobi, a desert caravan point.

By contrast, Premier Mussolini's high command asserted that Italian and German mechanized columns "firmly sustained" new British attacks in the four-day-old Libyan offensive and "passed to the counter attack and repelled enemy armored formations, destroying numerous tanks and capturing prisoners."

Meanwhile, the German radio asserted that strong British reinforcements were steadily arriving at Sierra Leone, on the African west coast, south of the French port of Dakar.

The broadcast said six British warships were in the Sierra Leone port of Freetown, discharging bombers and ground personnel.

Truth or propaganda, this claim might easily serve the Germans as a pretext for moving troops into French West Africa to "defend" Dakar, a highly strategic port, which, in German hands, could provide a base for raids on Britain's "lifeline" to her dominions overseas.

Dakar is also important as a jumping-off point to South America.

On the Russio-German war front, the Soviet radio reported that "bloody fighting is now in progress" in three sectors along Moscow's 200-mile defense arc and that the Red armies had beaten off a violent new offensive by the Germans Tuesday night.

"Fighting is especially tense in the northern sector of the front, where the enemy flung in large forces of tanks and infantry and tried to break through to the town of "K," the radio said.

This presumably referred to the key town of Kalinin, 95 miles northwest of Moscow.

German losses in men and machines were described as "tremendous sacrifices," with the Nazis hurling tens of thousands of troops into the flaming battle lines in an attempt to break through Russian defenses.

In the Volokolamsk sector alone, 65 miles northwest of Moscow, the Germans were said to have sent eight divisions—about 120,000 men—into action, but the Russians declared that Red army troops "launched a violent counter-attack which the Germans could not withstand and they retired westward, evacuating many villages."

In the Mozhaisk sector 57 miles west of Moscow, the Russians admitted the invaders, striking simultaneously in several places, had driven a wedge into Soviet lines.

Russian front-line dispatches said that the Germans were also striking with savage fury in the Tula sector, 100 miles south of Moscow, and that bloody losses "failed to dampen the enemy's ardor and he continues to strive forward."

A bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters gave no hint that this was a new all-out smash to take Moscow—as seemed apparent from Soviet reports—merely noting that "further progress" had been made by Axis armies on the central front and in the Donets river basin in the Ukraine.

On the North African front, the Nazi high command declared that Axis counter-attacks against the British offensive were "progressing" and that German bombers "routed concentrations of British tanks and lorries" on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier.

Before Rostov, the northern gateway to the Caucasus, the Russians said fierce fighting was taking a heavy toll of Nazi manpower. A Soviet information bureau announcement said Russian forces had beaten off a violent German attack supported by 200 tanks somewhere on the southwestern front, killing more than 1,000 Germans.

The Red navy also blazed into action and the government announced that a 5,000-ton German tanker and three German transports totalling 1,900 tons were sunk in the Barents sea, apparently en route to reinforce Axis units in the far north. The Russians also listed a 9,000-ton tanker as sunk in the Black sea.

As the extraordinary session of the Japanese diet closed in Tokyo, having ratified the government's program of new military expenditures and new taxes, a new controversy was reported developing over Japan's expansion in French Indo-China.

France was said to have protested to Tokyo that the Japanese were overstepping the agreements which gave them the right to bases in France's Asian colony.

According to French informants, for one thing, the 350 political and economic experts in the retinue of Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan's new ambassador to Indo-China, virtually were sufficient to administer a government there.

Finn, Red Peace Has Good Chance, Report

HELSINKI —(U.P.)— Well informed quarters said today that as result of negotiations between Finland and the United States there was a "good chance" of an armistice between Finland and Russia.

It was said, however, that before there could be even a "tacit armistice" Finland would like certain assurances from Britain and the United States regarding her future frontiers.

diplomatic procedure, he said.

"Dissolution of the German alliance by Japan is worth a great deal to this country," Thomas said. "The pact has these effects: It immobilizes a good part of the United States fleet in the Pacific; it immobilizes a Russian army in Siberia; it keeps thousands of Canadian troops in Hong Kong and Singapore; it causes France's Oriental territories to fluctuate in allegiance between the Vichy government and the Free French; it makes untenable the position of the Dutch East Indies."

The Hull-Kurusu-Nomura discussions have been held daily since Monday, including an hour's conference on Thanksgiving day at the state department.

Hull, already working toward a post-war economic adjustment which would avoid mistakes made after the last war, has started negotiations with Great Britain and China toward eliminating discriminations which in the past have divided the world into "have" and "have not" nations.

Japan, classified as a "have not," has attempted to justify her expansion program with the argument that a vigorous growing race can not see trade barriers raised against her without breaking them down, even by force if necessary.

Charge U. S., Japan 'Not In Earnest'

LONDON—(INS)—Neither the United States nor Japan is making an "earnest effort" to solve the Far Eastern crisis in the conversations now under way at Washington, the Tokyo radio reported today, according to the London Evening Standard.

"The position in the Far East following the Washington talks is grave," the announcer said.

"It is not believed that either side is making an earnest effort to solve the crisis.

"The talks should not last much longer as discussion of the principles involved has already ended. The remaining question is whether the United States and Japan will fight or not."

war Robert P. Patterson gave full approval to legislation that would authorize the government to seize and operate strike-bound defense plants and to freeze union conditions in those plants for duration of the emergency.

At a hearing before a senate judiciary subcommittee, Patterson approved a measure by Sen. Tom Connally (D., Tex.) Besides authorizing seizure of plants and facilities, Connally's bill would set up a wage board to determine compensation for the workers during the emergency.

Lewis will place the proposals—an open shop for the duration of the emergency or submission of the dispute to arbitration—before his policy committee tomorrow. His personal rejection of the president's suggestion is expected to virtually preclude any other action except rejection by the policy committee.

President Benjamin Fairless of the U. S. Steel corporation, largest operator of captive mines, wired Mr. Roosevelt that either proposal was acceptable to his company. No announcement of a reply from other steel heads has been made.

Fairless, Eugene G. Grace of Bethlehem and Frank Purnell of Youngstown Sheet & Tube rejected Lewis' demand for a union shop in conferences begun a week ago today at Mr. Roosevelt's request.

What action the president may take was not known. One official suggested the possibility of a Sunday night radio appeal to the workers, over Lewis' head, to return to work.

That theory—and it admittedly was only a theory—appeared to be supported by the assertion of an administration leader in congress that Mr. Rosevelt is "about through writing letters to Lewis and is getting ready to act." That congressman, who withheld use of his name, said Mr. Roosevelt might appeal soon to the mine workers to return to work under a government guarantee of protection—possibly of the army.

Administration labor officials differ on whether such an appeal would succeed. Its success, all agree, would depend upon an overwhelming desertion by the miners of Lewis' stand for the union shop in response to an appeal for defense production.

It was the strangest of all conventions held in the six-year history of the CIO. Not once was the question of Communism, normally a lively topic for a CIO convention, raised. And, there were no verbal fights on the floor over the more than two score resolutions that were adopted.

Tension beneath the surface, however, was so taut that many delegates fought out arguments with their fists. Two of the fights occurred in the meeting hall. TEN WOUNDED AS BATTLE FLARES AT COAL MINE connection with yesterday's shooting.

Cottom said the miner, ignoring pleas of pickets to "stay out with us," fired six shots. The miner denied the charge, saying he only "heard a shot" as he and 12 other men went through the Edenborn picket line.

Five More Blast Furnaces Closed

PITTSBURGH —(INS)— Five additional blast furnaces were ordered out of operation today by Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, making a total of 11 furnaces inoperative since the coal strike began last Monday.

The corporation said the curtailment will also hit the open hearth and Bessemer furnaces, and the finishing mills, and would reduce ingot production by 20 per cent.

The corporation previously had banked six furnaces — four in Pittsburgh and two in Chicago.

Those affected by today's order are in the vital Pittsburgh-Youngstown area, as follows: Clairton, Pa., two; Youngstown, O., one; Carrie, Rankin, Pa., one, and Duquesne, Pa., one.

Guards Keep Pickets Away From Mines

GARY, W. Va. — (U.P.) — Pickets marched upon the six "captive" coal mines of the United States Coal and Coke Co. today, but state police guarding the reopened pits, refused to let them approach the mine entrances.

Approximately 300 members of the United Mine Workers' union engaged in picketing.

State police halted the pickets' automobiles at the end of the road leading to number six, the largest pit, telling them they would have to walk since there was no parking space at the mine.

The pickets left soon after the day shift had reported for work. Mine Superintendent Paul Duncan said that all six mines were at normal operations, which would indicate there were about 2,000 men in the six pits.

Meet In Washington On Rail Wage Tangle

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Spokesmen for railroad management and labor met here today in an effort to settle a wage dispute which has threatened a nation-wide strike of 1,150,000 railroad employes.

The face-to-face conference resulted from the intervention of President Roosevelt who, in two earlier conferences this week with the principals involved in the dispute, obtained an agreement from them to discuss their differences over the conference table.

The points at issue include pay raises and vacations. Five operating brotherhoods have voted to start a nation-wide strike on Dec. 7 in support of their demands for a 30 per cent wage increase for 350,000 members.

Strikes Close 3 Ohio Coal Mines

ATHENS — (AP) — Three coal mines employing approximately 900 men in the Hocking Valley ceased operations today as miners struck in sympathy with the United Mine Workers' stand on the captive mine issue.

The mines were Ohio Colliers' No. 267 near Glouster, the Hocking Valley Mining company's Kimberly shaft, and the Coonville mine.

At the same time the No. 255 mine operated by Oral Daugherty near Glouster was preparing to close. Informed persons said nine other major mines were expected to cease work by Monday.

Approximately 5,000 miners are employed in 11 counties of the Hocking Valley field.

ACCIDENTS OVER HOLIDAY TAKE LIVES OF FOUR

Quartet Dies In Mansfield Area Mishaps; 16 Others Killed Over State.

Mrs. Akers had been an invalid for six years.

Mrs. Carl Campbell, 60, of Bellefontaine, was killed and two men were seriously injured in a head-on collision on a hill on U. S. Route 30-S, southwest of Galion, yesterday.

Carl Campbell, Bennefontaine, her husband, is in a critical condition in Galion City hospital with internal injuries. Charles Banford, 19, Ashland, is also confined to the hospital suffering a fractured pelvis and fractured jaw.

The accident occurred when cars driven by Campbell and Banford met at the top of a hill. State highway patrolmen reported that the fronts of both cars were completely demolished. Mrs. Campbell's body was sent to Bellefontaine where funeral services will be arranged.

The other fatal accident in this area occured early yesterday when an auto driven by Robert J. Brown, 25, of Shiloh R. D. 1, skidded off State Route 13 and struck a tree and utility pole. Brown, who was returning home from work at the Westinghouse plant, died of a skull fracture and broken neck.

Three Fremont girls enroute to Mansfield for the Mansfield-Fremont football game yesterday afternoon escaped injury at 1:15 p. m., Thursday when their car skidded on the wet paving on State route 13 five miles north of Mansfield, struck a mailbox and tree, overturned twice, coming to rest on its top.

Riding in the car were Doreen Berrill, 18; Eilene Edwards, 18, and Catherine Schults, 18. The accident occurred near the scene of two other crashes earlier in the day.

Lorin Martin, 16, of Ashland, escaped injury today at 4:20 a. m., when the bakery truck he was driving overturned in a ditch on U. S. Route 42, five miles north of Mansfield. Martin told state highway patrolmen that the truck's steering gear become locked.

Mrs. Marshall Marks, Mansfield, was treated at the Ashland Samaritan hospital yesterday for cuts and bruises she received when a car driven by her husband collided with another operated by F. P. Shrimplin, Cleveland, on U. S. Route 42, east of Ashland. Marks and Shrimplin were not injured.

Funeral services for Mrs. Akers, who was killed near Plymouth, will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., from the Lanius funeral home in Plymouth with Rev. H. L. Bethel, pastor of the Plymouth Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial will be at Plymouth. Besides her son, John, Mrs. Akers is survived by her husband, Byron Akers, Tiro.

Services for Brown, the Shiloh youth killed yesterday morning on State Route 13, will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m., from the home. Burial will be at Chesterville. The body was removed to the family home from the Finefrock funeral home this morning.

Brown was born in Mt. Gilead on June 1, 1916 and spent most of his life in this vicinity. He was employed as a press operator by the Westinghouse company. He was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown, Shiloh; two brothers, Loy of Shelby and J. H. Brown, jr., at home; and three sisters, Mrs. P. W. Brown of Mansfield, Mrs. Virginia Enzor of Shiloh, and Norma Brown at home.

Others killed over the holiday include:

Fremont—Leo J. Smiegelwicz, 22, Detroit, in a two-car crash.

Marion — Richard Simptins, 8, when struck by an automobile.

Cleveland — Arthur Trendel, jr., 9, killed by motorcycle; Mrs. Karoline Zeigler, 47, struck by car.

Kenton—Henry Farlar, 32, of Algar, who walked into the side of an Erie passenger train.

Cincinnati — George Nitzel, 57, of Plainville, when his truck was hit by train.

HITS HOUSING

WPA Report Says 13 Per Cent In Cleveland Are 'Unfit.'

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Thirteen per cent of housing units in Cuyahoga county are not fit for human habitation, says a WPA survey just completed.

Howard Whipple Green, survey director, reported the check showed 42,542 of the county's 339,585 dwellings need major repairs, lack running water, bathing facilities or electricity.

HOLIDAY CHEER CAN BE BOUGHT MORE CHEAPLY

Nine Varieties of Popular Whisky Sell For Less Than In 1934.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Liquor price changes have been numerous since the state monopoly system started in 1934 but careful buyers can purchase their holiday whisky today cheaper than seven years ago.

Comparative prices on 30 "best selling" brands, including five of Scotch, show that nine varieties now cost less than in 1934. Two others are cheaper than before the first new federal tax was imposed in 1938.

Sixteen of the brands, however, hit new highs with the price changes last Oct. 27 but liquor department officials said no further revisions were contemplated until next year.

Most of the increases were attributed to federal taxes—25 cents per proof gallon in 1938; 75 cents more last year and an additional $1 Oct. 1.

Despite the initial federal tax, 24 of the leading brands dropped to price lows late in 1939 and the others in preceding years. Thirteen varieties advanced from 37 to 59 cents a quart from the 1939 lows to their present peak.

An exception to the general trend is one of the most popular straight blends which now sells for $1.87 a quart, less than in 1934 and at the same proof. Several brands were reduced in proof to absorb the additional taxes, one by 32 per cent.

Three of the most popular brands of Scotch cost more in the first two years of the monopoly's operation than now but the other two reached top prices this year. All were low in 1939.

Although price changes during the seven years are too numerous to list, a typical example of major revisions in one item was given as follows:

1934, $1.95 a quart; 1935, $1.75; 1936, $1.75; 1937, $1.74; 1938, $1.61; 1939, $1.60; 1940, $1.81; last Sept. 1, $1.70; Oct. 1, $1.91; Oct. 27, $2. There was an 8 per cent drop in proof during the span.

Sales by the monopoly system for the first nine months of 1941 aggregated $47,178,344, a gain of $7,812,045 over the corresponding 1940 period.

The state's profits and gallonage taxes during the nine months totaled $13,606,487, a gain of $1,934,516.

A $5,133,171 inventory was reported by the liquor department, higher than normal because of early purchases of holiday stocks.

He had bo l he could so he had to acce e dare. A real magician he ed him out of his trouble and made a very eventful Saturday for Tad.

THE SATURDAYS, by Elizabeth Enright—The Four Melendy children were bored with a rainy Saturday when Randy thought of the ISAAC club. Her plan gave each child in turn the pooled allowances of all four of the children to be spent in a special adventure. Randy's turn came first and she went to the art museum. Rush went to the opera and found a dog on the way home. Mona had the strangest adventure and was unhappy about it for several days Oliver ran away to the circus and a policeman brought him home. The next Saturday's were as eventful as the first four, even after the allowances had to be cut.

Stumbling Blocks To Self-Government

THOSE who argue against democracy, and contend that people are incapable of self-government, are having their case greatly strengthened by present behavior of some of the minority groups in the United States.

A fundamental of democracy, in maintenance of orderly government, is acquiescence of minorities in the expressed wishes of a majority—with assured protection of minority and individual "rights."

The purpose of such an experiment in self-government as is now being made in the United States is to establish an equality of opportunity and preserve freedom of thought and action for all citizens, regardless of race or creed.

A number of other countries, including some in South America, have considered democracy an impractical ideal and have held to some form of dictatorship in government. In some instances hope has been expressed that eventually a majority of their people would advance to the point of being capable of self-government.

Now, in a period of crucial test, a condition has arisen in which the self-interest of minority groups seems to take precedence over national welfare and decisions must be made as to whether a nation "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal . . . can long endure."

The one great concern of the United States of America at this time is to proceed, with the utmost haste, to arm for defense and to send munitions and war supplies to other nations fighting against the Axis powers, to the end that the threat of a Hitlerized world may be removed as quickly as possible.

But the program of defense and aid has been, and continues to be, seriously hampered by work stoppages in essential industries, with further confusion resulting from a strike order which would suspend all railroad transportation early in December.

Whatever preventive action may be taken in advance of a railroad strike, and however the restoration of coal production is accomplished, the fact remains that in both instances the welfare of America as a whole, has been threatened by aggressive minorities acting in self-interest.

Material progress in the United States has been so rapid during the past few decades that failure of human intelligence to keep pace with quickly changing conditions is quite understandable. There has also been so much public accord with the legitimate purposes of organized labor that the present dangerous situation was reached with appearance of government sanction.

The United States seems to be going through such a transitional labor period as Great Britain experienced fifteen to twenty years ago and what happened then may shed some light on present problems in this country.

The British government greatly increased the power of its labor unions after the last war. Britain had a Labor party government in 1924-25 and when this was overthrown, organized labor adopted procedure much like that of American labor recently. There was a big coal strike, followed by a spread of labor troubles ending in a general strike that closed nearly all the mines and factories.

The British public was greatly aroused, and the result was adoption by parliament of the British Trade Union Disputes Act which reduced the power of labor unions. It forbids strikes, local or national, which seem intended to coerce the government or impose hardship on the public. There is criminal liability for union officials and workmen alike, if they engage in illegal strikes, and labor unions may be sued for damages by workmen who lose wages through illegal strikes.

Congress is now engaged in considering proposals to prevent strikes in defense industries and it may be hoped that whatever action is taken along this line will be the outgrowth of calm judgment, with fair consideration for all parties concerned, rather than being guided by the resentment engendered by the present intolerable situation.

Two Ways To Get the Money

THERE are two ways for government to raise the immense amount of money it needs for national defense. One is to impose heavy federal income taxes. The other is to sell federal bonds on a vast scale.

The first process means that the government takes whatever part of people's earnings it considers safe or reasonable, and uses the proceeds to pay war bills. It gives nothing in return but assurance of public protection of citizens and their property. The only question about this method is how far it shall go. It could be carried to the point of hardship and privation, as indeed it is now in England and other parts of the British Empire.

The second process lets people invest their savings in government bonds which pay interest and provide income for the investors. Naturally it is much more popular than taxation.

Both of these methods will probably be applied on the biggest scale ever tried in this or any other country. Both tend to keep prices from rising and prevent inflation—which is a desirable end in itself.

Apathy May Bring Disaster

DR. FRANK H. LAHEY, president of the American Medical Association, after traveling 30,000 miles in this country, reports that he is "amazed at the apathy of the people in failing to appreciate the situation facing them."

"Too many people," he says, "think this is a mock war. But it is impossible for me to understand how anyone can assume that Germany, headed by mentally and morally contaminated leaders, will give consideration to its enemies or pass up the richest prize on the globe, if she succeeds in Europe." And on the other side of us is Japan, the Dragon's Tail of the Axis.

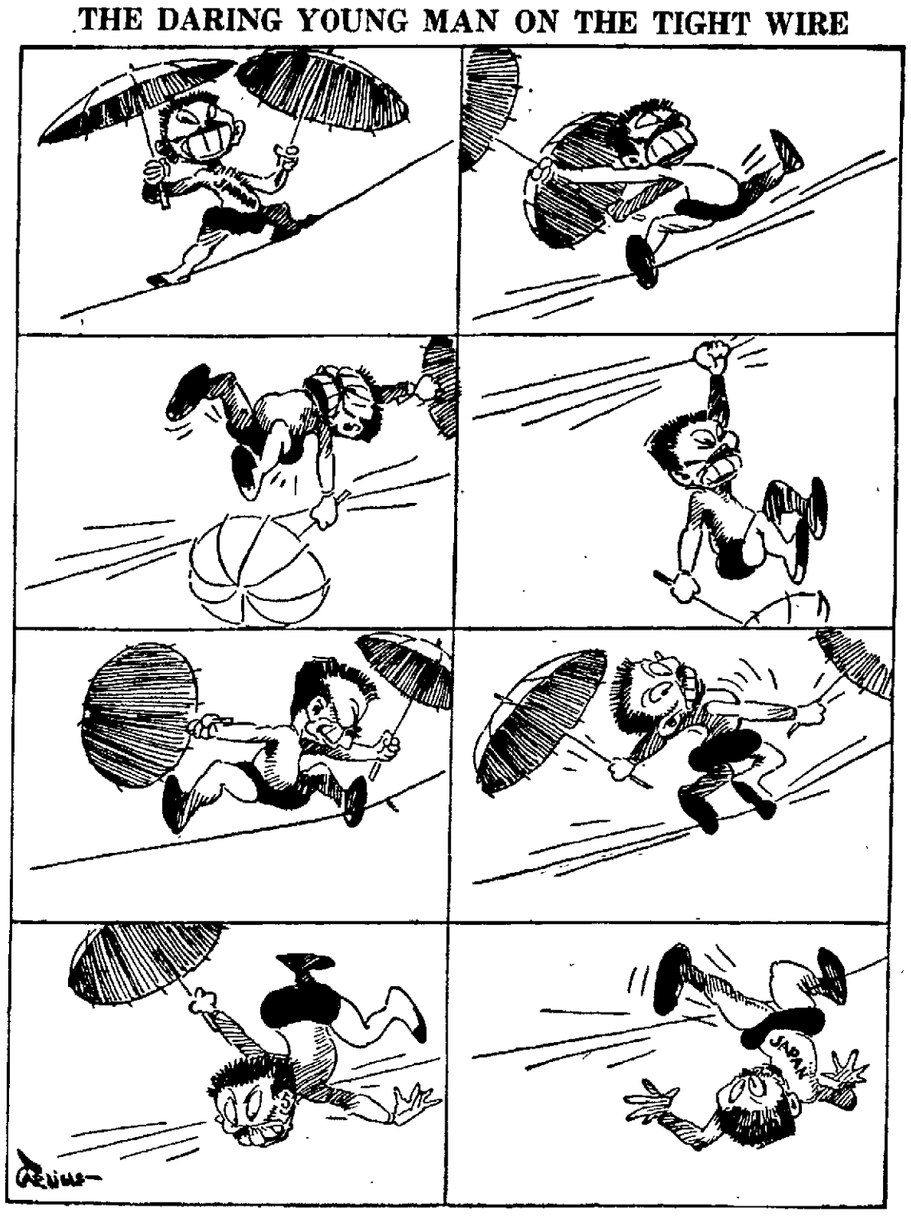
It is not a mock war but a terrific reality, so menacing that people who cannot see what is going on, and realize its import, may shortly find themselves in a waking nightmare.

Scientists predict that the world will last another two billion years—which will give the dollar-a-year men time to acquire quite a nice little bank account.

Discovering that a "golden wedding anniversary" means that a couple has been married 50 years, the Hollywood reaction is, "Can you imagine that!"

Fear—or hope—is now being expressed that there is likelihood of a shortage in fingernail lacquer.

THE DARING YOUNG MAN ON THE TIGHT WIRE



Is Morgenthau FDR's Spokesman?

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — What Washington observers would give most anything for at the moment is an "advanced spokesman" for President Roosevelt on economic and other domestic questions, someone who would be saying this week what the president would be actively working for a month hence!

Unreasonable? Not at all to those whose business it has been to study the White House. They have had almost precisely such an "advance spokesman" for the president on international affairs for a long time—since the war in Europe broke out as a matter of fact—in the person of Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida.

This does not mean that you can bet your bottom dollar on any particular occasion that what Senator Pepper says, on foreign affairs, the president will be doing a month hence. But if you would bet five to one EVERY TIME you would come out considerably ahead, or at least you would have so far. It is certainly the most accurate predicting, which Washington has had for many years. But Pepper has never declared that it was predicting, or that he was speaking for anyone except himself.

It is or has been distinctly NOT the old trial balloon technique. This first became famous under Theodore Roosevelt. Somebody would say the president was going to do a certain thing. If the thing seemed to meet with a favorable response, the thing was done by the president. If the response was highly unfavorable, it was forgotten. In fact, the gentleman who did the predicting was apt to find himself in the "Ananias club."

Incidentally, some of them belonged there. Some publicity lovers took advantage of the technique to get a little publicity for themselves, and their guessing was not always accurate.

BUT the Pepper statements—always far in advance of the president's own statements and actions, have positively not been trial balloons. Frequently the statements made by Pepper have seemed to meet with an unfavorable response. Whereupon the president bent every energy to trying to mold public sentiment toward the desired objective.

In this sense, of course, the Pepper statements were actually trial balloons, but not in the sense in which the term was used with respect to Theodore Roosevelt's publicity strategy.

Reactions to Pepper's statements have shown F. D. R. which way the wind was blowing in this country, but he has often tried to change the course of the wind than to modify his own charted route to conform.

FOR some months now Henry Morgenthau, secretary of the treasury, has been holding forth on economic questions, particularly on savings in non-defense appropriations. What Washington observers would like to know is whether Morgenthau has become the president's "advance sopkesman" on domestic and economic questions.

But there are no indications that the public at large is swinging round to the Morgenthau views, and it may be that he will become in the domestic field what Pepper has been in the international. Morgenthau is now talking about raising plenty of food so that when the war is over America will be able to feed the starving people of Europe. He wants to cut out the National Youth movement for the duration of the emergency, etc.

Listen World!

About Your 'Rights'

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

I WISH the Master Minds who compile various polls would make a survey of the time and energy wasted by the average citizen, fussing over his "rights" . . . fuming because he thinks they've been abused. I wager there'd be some surprising results.

We humans disagree on practically every subject—but on one theory we're in unanimous accord. . . . WE ALL BELIEVE THAT WE ARE ENDOWED WITH CERTAIN NATURAL AND INALIENABLE PREROGATIVES WHICH THE OTHER FELLOW SHOULD RESPECT . . . FAILING WHICH WE'RE ENTITLED TO RAISE PLENTY OF CAIN

Than which there could hardly be a more cockeyed notion or one more calculated to start endless heart-burnings, backbitings, sulks, pouts, rages, feuds, tiffs, tempers and other assorted tantrums. The simple truth is, unless he's an infant or an idiot, said average human beings has no "rights," save those which he establishes and maintains for himself.

There is nothing in our private natures which automatically entitles us to special consideration until we, ourselves, put it there. The mere fact that we have reached a certain age or occupy a certain position, does not, in itself entitle us to extra salaams.

Comes Mrs. Jones, frinstance, aged 43, and all burned up because Mr. Jones does not "show her the consideration due a wife." But just what consideration "is due a wife?" If she's a cheerful, helpful, tender and stimulating partner, she's worth her weight in star sapphires and entitled to boundless affection and respect. But the mere fact that she wears a man's ring, bears his name and allows him to pay her bills, pins no medals on her.

Which same applies to all other human relationships. Why should Grandpa be regarded as an oracle simply because he's going on 65, suffers from gall stones, hasn't had an original idea since Cleveland was elected and is a general pain-in-the-neck? The answer is — he shouldn't.

And don't forget the Younger Generation with its universal wail, "We aren't kids any more. I'll be outta Hi next year. Then why haven't I gotta right to run my own life . . . choose my own clothes 'n' friends . . . come 'n' go when I please? Why should Mom and Dad always interfere?

"THE RIGHT TO RUN YOUR OWN LIFE"—that depends, youngster, not on the calendar or your football technique. It depends on your own reliability . . . your understanding and consideration of other human beings. Whether you're nine, nineteen or twenty-nine, you establish your own rating.

I think it was Walter Winchell who quoted these lines recently. Don't know whether they were original or not but I'm passing them on with gratitude. Respecting Rights, says Walter:

"AN EQUAL RIGHT MEANS
"AN EQUAL DUTY—
"AN EQUAL DUTY MEANS
"AN EQUAL SACRIFICE."

There's the whole business in an exceedingly apt breath. You aren't born with Rights . . . you can't buy them . . . or enjoy them permanently by chewing table legs. They grow with your own growth. Insomuch as you value your fellow human, he'll value you. Insomuch as you feel his need and appreciate his service, he'll feel and appreciate yours. YOU'LL GET IN DIRECT PROPORTION TO YOUR GIVING.

"RIGHTS" . . . THEY LISTEN LOVELY, AND LIFE'S A PRETTY SHABBY AFFAIR WITHOUT THEM. BUT THEY ARE SELDOM AS MUCH FUN, AND NEVER AS EASY TO MAINTAIN AS THEY SEEM. SO DON'T START YELLING FOR THEM UNTIL YOU'RE SURE YOU HAVE WHAT THEY'LL TAKE. FOR, I WARN YOU, THE UPKEEP'S TERRIFIC.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Urged to 'Crack Down' on Lewis, FDR Mentions Lincoln's Course

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—An old friend of the president, outraged over the second shutdown of the captive coal mines, sent this message to the White House:

"You know I have long been a supporter of your liberal labor policies, but you cannot allow Lewis to get away with this. Frankly, it would greatly impair your influence, not only at home but abroad. Lewis is challenging the government at a time of great national need and the people expect you as president to deal with him promptly and forcefully. They are overwhelmingly with you, if you will act with vigor."

Here is the substance of the White House reply:

In the darkest period of the Civil war, Abraham Lincoln was insulted and flouted by the commanding officer of the Union armies, General George McClellan. Although he was the president and commander-in-chief, Lincoln went to McClellan's residence to talk with him about the conduct of the war. McClellan was not home, so Lincoln patiently waited for him to return.

When the general entered the house and was informed that the president was waiting for him, McClellan stalked upstairs and sent down word that he was too fatigued to see the president of the United States.

Members of Lincoln's staff vigorously urged him to remove McClellan at once. But Lincoln did not lose his temper. He refused to be swayed by anger. No matter how great the personal affront, he was willing to suppress his own grievances in the national interest. If McClellan would bring victory to the Union, Lincoln was willing to suffer personal insult from him.

The spite and hatred of one man is not the deciding factor in dealing with the coal controversy. Far more vital things are at stake: national unity, the maintenance of our democratic traditions and processes, the confidence of all the people in the calmness, fairness and impersonal judgment of their elected leaders. The Lincoln way is a good way to follow.

P. E. Keep your shirt on. Nobody is going to get away with anything.

Wallace's Drinking.

HENRY WALLACE has learned to take a drink—in his hand. When he first came on "The Hill," members of congress wondered if he would learn to fraternize like Jack Garner. Now, after ten months, the vice-president has earned this appraisal from his colleagues in the senate: "Henry is doing fine, if he would only loosen up and take a drink once in a while."

The vice-president takes a cocktail when drinks are served at a party, but confines his indulgences to holding the drink—untouched. He doesn't like to hurt his hostess' feelings, but also he doesn't like to drink.

Predicting North Africa.

THE state department has been breathlessly following the current conversations between General Weygand, commander of North Africa, and Marshal Petain, his commander at Vichy.

On General Weygand depends the success or failure of the state department's French appeasement policy. This policy of the "Career Boys," of sending oil, food and supplies to French North Africa, has been one of the most hotly criticized inside the administration. The British have been vigorously opposed, and so have some inside the cabinet.

The appeasement policy was undertaken on the recommendation of the charming Mr. Robert Murphy, counselor of the American embassy in France, who goes to mass daily with General Weygand.

But now all inside reports from France indicate that Weygand is hand-in-glove with Petain, will turn over vital North African bases to Germany.

This state department blunder seems almost as tragic as its original mistake in recognizing the Petain government.

After the fall of France, many Frenchmen considered Petain a traitor for signing a peace with Hitler. They were ready to carry on the war in North Africa. But they were completely crushed and disillusioned when the state department promptly issued a statement praising Petain.

In doing this, the "Career Boys" ignored the fact that Petain was the secret favorite of the French Fascists, the Royalists, and all the reactionary elements in the complete antithesis of the New Deal.

Ever since then it has been obvious that this was one of the most tragic errors of the war. And now the British, faced with the probability of the French fleet in the Mediterranean, will have to pay the penalty.

Capital Chaff.

AFTER senate passage of neutrality revision, Senator Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the foreign relations committee, received a note in the president's hand, on green tinted White House stationery: "That was grand last night. Heartiest congratulations." . . . Senate floor leader Alben Barkley looks corpulent, yet his lunch consists of only a bowl of bean soup, with chunks of cornbread crumbled into it. On hard days, he makes it two bowls. . . . Mrs. Walter George, charming wife of the Georgia senator, is popular at senate ladies' luncheons for her southern dialect stories. But she almost created a senate incident when she took up piano playing recently. The practicing was not appreciated in a nearby hotel apartment by irritable Senator Carter Glass. . . . It's a favorite trick of congressmen to decorate their office walls with favorable cartoons of themselves. But Senator Claude Pepper's collection is unique—it features the unfavorable jibes.

Poison Lobby.

THOSE women isolationist lobbyists who stormed the Capitol during the house debate on neutrality revision displayed plenty of spirit when it came to buttonholing congressmen, but they were afraid for their lives in Washington restaurants. As the neutrality debate began in the house, the leader of an Ohio delegation gathered her charges about her in a hotel lobby, and gave each a list of house members to interview. Then she added ominously:

"Now here are some instructions regarding your lunch hours, and I want you to follow them carefully. When it comes time to eat, be sure you go in pairs, no more than two in the same restaurant. And examine the food carefully.

"The White House and the president's leaders on Capitol Hill have spies laying for us. I'm convinced, ladies, that they're planning to poison us!"

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Nobody asked me, but I still like college football better than pro. . . . Bill Stern is my sports announcer. . . . Nobody in pugilism gives me the kick Dempsey did. . . . There's not a funnier comedian than Danny Kaye. . . . Hardest band leader in New York to interview is Bennie Goodman. . . . I dunno why, but every time I hear Helen Hayes' voice my heart skips a beat. . . . I'm the guy who never sailed for Lana Turner. . . . But I'd stand in the rain to hear Blue Barron play "Sometimes I'm Happy." . . .

I just read in the magazine Swank that I am from the midwest. . . . If that's true, somebody's been giving me an awful run-around. . . . I always thought I was from Lake Charles, Louisiana.

THE glibbest impromptu talker on Broadway is Hy Gardner. . . . Some gal, that Edna Ferber. . . . The movies paid her $175,000 for "Saratoga Trunk" before it was even published. . . . Now, it can't miss selling a quarter of a million copies. . . . Besides, she's co-author of a hit play on Broadway, "The Land Is Bright." . . . Can't understand why Sammy Kaye's Sunday Serenade program remains unsponsored. . . . It's a honey. . . . Odd about Slim Summerville. . . . He's probably the only actor on record who doesn't want to come to New York. Has no desire to see the big town. . . . Murals do not intrigue me. . . . The people in them have too many muscles. . . . I've never seen Monty Woolley with anyone but himself. The actor who made such a success in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" kicks around at all hours. . . . But he's a lone wolf. . . . I've seen him at 4 p. m. and 4 a. m., but always alone.

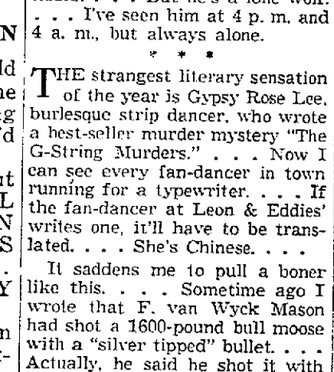
THE strangest literary sensation of the year is Gypsy Rose Lee, burlesque strip dancer, who wrote a best-seller murder mystery "The G-String Murders." . . . Now I can see every fan-dancer in town running for a typewriter. . . . If the fan-dancer at Leon & Eddies' writes one, it'll have to be translated. . . . She's Chinese. . . .

It saddens me to pull a boner like this. . . . Sometime ago I wrote that F. van Wyck Mason had shot a 1600-pound bull moose with a "silver tipped" bullet. . . . Actually, he said he shot it with a "silvertip" bullet. . . . That makes all the difference in the world. . . . Moose hunters all around the country have been writing in. . . . Maybe I'd better stick to shotguns.

When you're looking for striking similarities, don't overlook Lou Costello, a dead ringer for Mayor LaGuardia. . . . Only Francis Scott Key, who wrote it, has done more for the Star Spangled Banner than Lucy Monroe. . . . I love to hear that song sung on the air, but the commercials that follow it sometimes seem silly. . . . For instance . . . "and the hom-m-m-m-e . . . of the brav-v-v-v-e. . . . Mothers! Buy Red Dog Oatmeal. It Makes the Kiddies yell Yum-m . . ."

I've often wondered why torch singers use such dark, think lipstick. . . . In a recent contest, 52 of 85 contestants sang the torch lament "My Jim." . . . I was one of the judges of that contest. . . . After 52 times, you get a little weary of "Jim."

LIFE'S LIKE THAT



"Haven't you got something for a chaser?"

A Farmer's Diary

The Eyes Have It

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OFTEN when driving on country roads at night, I am surprised at the great number of animals that cross and re-cross the highway before me. From the roadside ditch or just at the edge of the berm it is not unusual to see one, or even two, pairs of close-set eyes that gleam against my headlights like live coals.

Once recently I saw what seemed to be several sets of eyes at almost even spaces, gleaming red like small sharp points of light. Perhaps rabbits were there—but I did not stop to investigate, lest it should be a mother skunk and her devoted family.

The truth is, every human who fares forth at night is watched by countless eyes he knows not of. Whenever I walk out alone on our gravel road at night, I feel the presence of birds and many four-footed creatures and stare back at them with all the zest and quietness that they themselves have taught me.

The barn owl and his mate sit, broody and silent, on some branch when suddenly like a streaking shadow I see him pounce upon a mouse ten feet in front of me. The wee rodent squeals once desperately, but the skillful hunter of the night takes him from the grassy road edge without even touching earth.

The chipmunk does not chatter at me now, but is wide awake and follows me with distrusting eyes. The gray squirrel is abroad at any hour of night, but he keeps his own counsel as I pass. Resting high on the crotch of a towering tree, I know the coon is on guard.

I find it interesting to note the expressiveness, even of wild eyes. The eyes of a wounded squirrel, when it drops, can be full of pain and suffering and accusation. A weasel, hot upon his prey, peers out through eyes that are green with rage and the furious lust to kill. A muskrat that once attacked me as I trudged through a swamp, showed eyes that flashed with terror. I never knew such boldness possible in a rat.

Last spring I helped to find a heifer that hid her calf. I found her in the brush, feeding her offspring and there was no mistaking the soft tender look in her eyes as she lowed to her wobbly baby.

Dogs' eyes are almost human in their delight, guilt, loneliness, contempt. And we, as humans, laugh with our eyes, express our grief and pain, disappointment or anger. Our eyes speak, more than our lips, the great truths of heart and soul.

OLD BUSINESS STRUCTURE AT SHELBY BURNS

Oxman Building Destroyed By Fire of Unknown Origin Wednesday.

SHELBY — Fire destroyed the old Oxman building here downtown late Wednesday. No estimate was made of the loss.

Origin of the fire is unknown but it is believed that a cigarette might have been left in the building by someone who slept there. The building was vacant and had been ordered torn down by the state fire marshal.

Firemen and city electric employes tore the roof and top floor of the building down after the fire.

TAKEN BY DEATH

Ashlander Dies In Hospital Following Brief Illness.

ASHLAND—Claydean Leidigh, 75, died Thursday at Samaritan hospital following a short illness. He was born Jan. 26, 1866 at Leidigh's Mill, north of Ashland in Orange township, and was a lifelong resident of the county.

Mr. Leidigh was a member of the Ashland Christian church and had been a member of the choir for a number of years. He was a member of the Macabee lodge for 30 years. He was employed by the park division of the city.

Survivors include his widow and a son, Alvin S., at home. Short funeral services will be held at the home Saturday at 1 p. m. The body will then be taken to the Christian church where services will be conducted at 2:30 p. m., by Rev. Frank W Brown, pastor. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

SON BORN

SHELBY — Mr and Mrs Jack McLaughlin of Tiro are parents of a son born this week at Shelby Memorial hospital.

ORDER NAMES NEW OFFICERS

Adam Boryczka Elected Head of Bucyrus Masons at Recent Meeting.

BUCYRUS—Officers elected by Bucyrus Masons at a recent meeting will be installed Dec. 2.

To be inducted will be Adam Boryczka, who was elected master; senior warden, Loren Knell; junior warden, S. K. Sollars; treasurer, H. E. Cook; secretary, T. C. Kiess; senior deacon, Emery Cole; junior deacon, J. E. Jacobs.

Recognition was given to Charles Wiles of the Bucyrus chapter, who was recently named district deputy of the 16th district. He was presented with a gift.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — The preparations of our organization for civilian defense are not at all hard to understand. Everybody wants to do something to help. The government has decided, perhaps wisely, that this is a young man's war, and that about the only place that civilians with actual war experience can serve is in some sort of home defense organization.

Johnson

The effort is given great emphasis by the fact that in England, so close to the winged danger of hostile attack practically everybody has to be on a constant alert for air raids on defenseless communities —that is, defenseless except so far as civilian organizations can protect them.

On this model we, too, are setting up, with what little surplus equipment we have, a pretty widespread civilian organization. We have blackouts and alarms, and there is a good deal of demand for such equipment of a miliary defensive nature as we can spare.

There has been considerable complaint from petty high authority about the listlessness or apathy of a good many of our people toward this effort. This column has spoken before of the suggestion of some of them that it might not be an unmixed disaster if a few bombs were dropped on some of our centers of population. My purpose today is to pursue that subject just a little further

Many of us are old enough to remember that, during the Spanish American war, for a little while, the Spanish Atlantic fleet was in the process of bottling itself up in Santiago Harbor. But most people on the Atlantic seaboard didn't believe that. There were demands from practically every sea-coast city to detach a battleship from our Atlantic fleet to guard that city. That would have been duck soup for the Spaniards, who could have destroyed them in detail. The navy stood firm and finally caught and destroyed the Spanish fleet outside of Santiago.

But the scare was wide-spread. It resulted in a string of almost useless coastal fortification on our Atlantic coast, and absorbed a lot of money from our scant military appropriations which might much better have gone elsewhere.

Can you imagine the multiplication of this hysteria, helped considerably by this civilian defense propaganda? If Hitler should drop a few bombs on Philadelphia, New York, or even Minneapolis or Kansas City? There would be a demand by every town in the country for air raid shelters, anti-aircraft troops and a squadron of pursuit planes Thousands of tons of essential materials would be anchored to the ground. Guns, ammunition and planes would be pinned down pointlessly.

There are four reasons for aerial bombing. One is to destroy industrial or communication systems. Another is to prepare the way for ground troops A third is to paralyze the civilian population and make it sue for peace Not one of these is remotely within Hitler's power. This he knows as well as anybody.

But there is a fourth—with a very few planes, to cause such concern among civilians that military weapons might be diverted from their true purpose It is of this that I am speaking.

The best education that could be given our people on this subject, is that no such raid by strategy, guile or stealth could ever be strong enough to do enough harm to warrant them in demanding detachments from our great organizations for military and naval defense.

KNOX LABELS AXIS 'AVOWED U. S. ENEMIES'

Says 'No One Knows When They Will Drag Us Into Full Belligerency.'

(By United Press)

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. — Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, speaking at the launching of the 35,000-ton battleship Indiana, said today that "no one can say when the actions of our avowed enemies may drag us into complete belligerency."

The Indiana, which slid into the James river at high tide, is the third battleship to be launched this year. Two others were launched last year and have since been commissioned.

Knox, the principal speaker at the launching attended by high naval officials and prominent Indianans, citing the completion of the Indiana six months ahead of schedule as proof that "when our industry and labor are united, there is nothing on earth can stop them."

"We all know that we have need of record-breaking speed," he said, "we all know that the dangers which confront the United States today are as deadly as any in our nation's history. The perils which loom across the seas today are not merely threats to our national security, for this is no struggle between river powers but a conflict between hostile ideas.

"We know on which side of this fight our hopes and interests lie, and we have proclaimed our resolve that our side shall win this struggle which shakes the world. No one can say when the actions of our avowed enemies may drag us into complete belligerency. But should that day come the burden upon our navy will be the greatest in our history. And in the struggle which would follow, this great ship here would be a tower of strength to our battle line.

"As she slides down the ways the Indiana takes with her the hopes and prayers of 130 million Americans."

Knox, recalling the part played by the first battleship Indiana in the Spanish-American war, and the fact that the second Indiana was scrapped before her completion after the first World war, said that today's battleship Indiana also marked a significant stage in America's development as a great naval power.

Louis Bromfield's new novel, "Wild Is the River," made its appearance at book stores today. Published by Harper and Brothers the book is Bromfield's first full-length novel with an American setting since "The Farm" was published in 1933. Laid in New Orleans during the Civil war the novel is heralded as "a robust, exuberant chronical, rich and colorful in its texture, which brings to life a baroque civilization and personalizes one of the most dramatic episodes in our nation's history." Motion picture rights to the novel were acquired by Columbia studios almost simultaneously with the date of publication in serial form by Cosmopolitan magazine last fall The author, now in Boston on a lecture engagement, will return to Cleveland next Tuesday to appear in Halle's Book shop and autograph his latest work.

A 40-year-old state and county sample ballot listing four party tickets in the county in the 1901 campaign had been found today by deputy sheriffs among the records at the jail. Only present county official listed on the ballot was Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston who was a candidate then for prosecutor on the Democratic ticket. The candidates for common pleas judge that year were W. P. Vaughn, Republican; Robert M. Campbell, Democrat; Harry F. Smith, Socialist, and Oliver H. Gurney, Prohibition ticket. The four parties had complete state tickets and candidates for most of the county offices.

Tells Soldiers To Keep Faith as He Retires From North African Command.

VICHY — (INS) — Gen. Maxime Weygand went into retirement at Cote D'Azur on the Riviera today to write his memoires, but before returning to private life he sent a message to the French of North Africa to keep faith and "lift up your hearts."

Relinquishing his post as proconsul in Africa—a job which was officially "suppressed" —Weygand retired with full and signal honors and with lavish praise from Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain.

In his farewell message to North Africa, where he served as pro-cousul for more than a year, and to the French army he had commanded there after France's capitulation to Germany, he declared:

Your unity behind the marshal grows stronger every day and thus safeguards the future. You must remain faithful and loyal.

"This attitude will justify all hopes. It alone is capable of bringing about their realization. I bow in fervor before your flags and standards. Lift up your hearts."

With the retirement of Weygand French North Africa was placed under control of Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan. Gen. Alfonse was named secretary general of Juin, was ordered to take command of the French North African troops and vice Admiral Fenard was named secretary genedal of French Africa with responsibility to Darlan

Assailant Knifes Witness In Miley Golf Murder Case

LEXINGTON — (U.P.) — Tom Lunsford, 28, an important state witness in the Marion Miley murder case, was recovering today from a superficial wound received in a mysterious stabbing.

Lunsford said he could not identify the assailant who knifed him slightly in the back near Lunsford's home last night.

Lunsford, an automobile mechanic, has named Tom Penney, 32, as the man who approached him to take part in the Sept. 28 robbery at the Lexington Country club in which Miss Miley, woman golfer, and her mother, Mrs. Fred Miley, were shot to death.

Penney is held in jail here awaiting trial Dec. 8 on murder charges.

You Meet Interesting People.

(And It's the Little Things That Fascinate You!)

ALTHOUGH Errol Flynn has starred in lots of adventure films and most people think of his exploits as strictly celluloid, he's had narrow escapes in real life, too.

The tales of Detective Johnny Broderick's prowess as a member of the Broadway squad are well known and numerous, but the legend I like best about Johnny is the one born when the movie companies decided to put a Johnny Broderick character on the screen. A film called "Bullets or Ballots" was made, and the role of Johnny Brannigan (pronounced Broderick) was played by Edward G Robinson. It was not a bad film as films go, and the Broadway mob attended it almost en masse to see what Warner Brothers had said about Johnny. As a matter of fact, a lot of people saw the film, here as well as abroad—it had sensational runs in Paris and London. But there was one person who didn't see it —Johnny B. himself. It seems that someone who had attended a preview told Johnny that in the film Edward G. Robinson smoked a pipe.

This hurt the detective's feelings, because he has never touched "tobacey" in his life."

CREDIT BUYING TO BE STUDIED

Federal Reserve Officer To Be In City Next Week To Explain Regulations.

New regulations governing installment buying and the granting of credit by stores will be explained by John Kossin, an executive officer of the Federal Reserve bank at Cleveland, at two meetings next Wednesday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, it was announced today.

The meetings will be sponsored by the Mansfield Credit Rating bureau in cooperation with credit bureaus in nearby cities and the Federal Reserve bank.

Kossin will speak first at the Credit Rating bureau luncheon at noon at the hotel. He will conduct a public forum meeting at 7:45 p. m., the same day in the hotel ballroom. The evening session will include a question period.

Credit officials pointed out that firms granting installment sale credit and banks and loan companies which make loans for credit buying are required to register before Jan 1 with the Cleveland Federal Reserve bank and obtain licenses to handle credit purchases and loans.

Kossin urged representatives of business firms and banks and loan companies in the Mansfield area to attend the forum meeting Wednesday night. He said registration is required irrespective of the fact that the firms may be complying with all the regulations.

GRANGE ASKS FOREIGN POLICY TO KEEP DEMOCRACY IN WORLD

(By Associated Press)

WORCESTER, Mass — The National Grange today adopted what it called a "grass-roots" foreign policy urging the administration to conduct its foreign relations so "that this nation and democracy shall continue to exist in the world."

The points of that policy as approved by delegates from 37 states attending the closing session of the farm organization's annual convention, included:

Take "all necessary means" to supply goods and munitions to nation's opposing aggression

Maintain defense zones "far enough beyond the territorial limits" of the western hemisphere to "give reasonable security against aerial and sea attack.

Maintain the status quo in the Pacific because of the "necessity for the country's economic security.

Maintain the Monroe doctrine and the "good neighbor policy." The latter, however, should "not be maintained at the expense of American agriculture."

The grange insisted that during the present international crisis the administration advise congress and the people on the general aims of its foreign policy and that the principles of free speech, free press and free assembly be maintained except that military secrets be not revealed

The grange also asked that all boards charged with the responsibility of mobilizing defense outfits provide for "actual and effective" representation for agriculture. It asked further that agriculture be given a place at the peace table.

RETIRES TODAY

Zanesville Publisher Leaves Business Because of Health.

ZANESVILLE —(INS)— One of Ohio's most widely known daily newspaper publishers, William O Littick, today retired from active business, turning over the affairs of the Zanesville Publishing company to his sons. The company publishes the Zanesville Times-Recorder (morning) the Signal (evening) and the Times-Signal (Sunday).

Littick had planned to retire on his seventy-fifth birthday next April but the retirement date was advanced in the interest of his health. He has been confined to his home by illness for two weeks.

Thus ended a newspaper career which began 55 years ago when Littick went to work on the Times-Recorder as a mail clerk.

Hostesses to Harford Circle of the United Brethren church for an all-night party recently were the Misses Vera and Mary Myrtle Yohn, who entertained at their home on Trimble road. Fifteen members and one guest, Mrs. Florence Ribletz, were in attendance. Mrs. Oscar Banks had charge of the devotional service. Business session was conducted by Mrs. Fuller Dunson.

At a late hour lunch was served at a table attractively decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. Miss Miriam Johnson had charge of the breakfast which was served at 8:30 Thursday morning. On Dec. 9, Mrs. Clarence Pollock will entertain the circle at her home on Leppo lane. This will be the Christmas gift exchange.

Thrifty Round Bone Pot Roast
Boneless Chuck Pot Roast—boned and rolled by your meat-man. A handsome roast—easily carved.
When you have a cut of meat boned, remember you can use the bones for delicious soup
Thrifty Blade Bone Pot Roast
There are so many different cuts of beef that can be deliciously pot-roasted (or braised). Three of them are shown here. You needn't always use the same cuts. Ask your meat-man to show you the variety of thrifty pot roasts he has and give your family a change.
Try it this way—Rub 4-lb. roast with bruised clove of garlic. Season with 3 tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. pepper. Brown meat on all sides in hot lard melted in heavy kettle (with tight fitting cover). Add 1 cup hot water, ½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce and ¼ cup chili sauce. Cover; simmer gently until meat is done, about 3½ hours. Turn occasionally. Add more water if necessary, a little at a time. Thicken liquid for gravy. Serve with buttered noodles, green beans and garden salad.

Parents Often Unconsciously Injure a Child

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

I have often said that about the hardest place to be a Christian is at home among our own loved ones. There it is that human frailties are prone to function at their worst.

Now it seems to me that a basic item in true Christianity is deep regard for and wise understanding of other people. This necessitates the ability to put ourselves in another's place and to treat him as we would like to be treated.

Often we lord it over those we love—if they let us. Our defenseless children have no way of hindering us in this transgression. Accordingly we boss them many times when there is no need to do so, choose for them many times when they could choose wisely for themselves, and often scold and punish them without good reason to do so—all because we, unawares, are seeking satisfaction in feeling superior.

Don't Laugh At Children.

For the same reason we laugh at their questions and remarks and make fun of them. We hamper their deserved expression and render them self-conscious. Most parents have been unconsciously guilty of this.

Who of us parents or teachers has not said to a child, or another of our own family, "You don't know that? I'm surprised. A baby should know that." Or, "It seems to me you would have known better." How important such statements make those who say them feel. How uncomfortable the one to whom they are said. Yet we don't say such things with a purpose to hurt.

We are often impatient with our children for the same reason. We grow angry at them when they make mistakes in learning to spell or add.

Ashamed Of Mistakes.

What could be more unfair to the struggling child as he tries to learn? Already he is disgusted with himself for his mistakes. Then when a parent scolds this child, the father or mother must appear to him to be a bully who would kick him when he's down.

Perhaps with a little more effort at self-control and understanding of the child we might prove to be better parents.

A selected list of books and pamphlets on understanding children and guiding them happily may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

LANTERN PATTERN 2824

Let lanterns sparkle gayly on your quilt! Most of the pieces in these are cut in strips, which makes the work easier. Start on the blocks right away! You'll have your quilt finished in no time! Pattern 2824 contains accurate pattern pieces; diagram of block; sewing instructions; yardages; diagram of quilt.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft department, 82 Eighth avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly pattern number, your name and address.

Basque lines are becoming to young and old—that's why they continue in Fashion's limelight! Marian Martin designs a stunning home frock, Pattern 9902, with a basque bodice that dips below the waist and is slide-fastened at the center seam. To accent the trim waistline, a sash may begin at the darts at either side of the bodice, or at the side seams. The square neck and the flared skirt add to the peasant effect of this charming frock. Optional details are the two novel pockets and the ric-rac edging. The slide fastener may be omitted and button trim used at the neck. The Sew Chart is included to help you with details . . . why not make two pert frocks?

Pattern 9902 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards 35 inch facric and 2⅞ yards ric-rac.

Send fifteen cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your size, name, address and style number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I did not need the injunction from my father to open the door to the Underwood house. Indeed, it was opened an instant before he uttered the words, for no sooner had I grasped his strategy of deploying the armored car across the sidewalk than I pulled the window down, locked it, and sprinted to the front door, opening it the length of the night chain and keeping my hand upon that barrier, ready to release it at an instant's notice.

The notice came as I saw him step to the sidewalk and heard his voice. I dropped the night chain, flung the door open, and in another minute my father and four men were across the threshold, while the driver and two others remained in the armored car.

"Thank God you are safe!" my father exclaimed. But he wasted no more words on me. Turning back at the doorway, he gave a command to the occupants of the second car.

Spencer Gives Orders.

"Two of you men come in here," he commanded. "The rest get into the armored car, all except the driver. Maneuver this armored car to shield him until he gets his car along the curb again, locks it and gets into the armored car.

"Don't do anything about those men in the other car unless they attempt to molest you or to get away. If they do, shoot their tires, so they'll have to make a getaway on foot, then trail them in this big car until you get a chance to nab them in some secluded street. Tie them down, put them in the bottom of the car, and bring them back here."

"Father, wait!" I interrupted him summarily. "We need a stretcher for Harry."

He gave a swift command. "Hold everything a second!" Then he nodded to the men who had entered the house. As they started out the door for the stretcher my father put a quick query to me.

"Anything else you want from the car?"

"No, nothing," I told him, and the men went out, returning quickly with a folding stretcher. But with characteristic restraint my father put no further question to me until he had seen to it that the cars were back at the curb.

"Where is Harry? What has happened?" he asked.

I told him as quickly as possible, and he turned to the six powerful men ranged before him.

"Two of you stay up here as lookouts," he said, his eyes roaming the room the while, and settling unerringly upon the window from which I had watched for him.

Post Men as Watchers.

"That window will make the best lookout," he said, pointing to it. "Open it, and stand at the side of it with your guns trained on that other car. The rest I'll have to leave to your own judgment. Don't shoot unless you have to.

"Luckily there's been nothing so far that couldn't be explained plausibly to the always non-curious city dwellers. If the police appear, don't argue. Just come for me. I'm going to the basement now. Four of you come with me and bring that stretcher. Bruce and Tim, you will stay up here."

The men took their places quickly without comment.

"Is Harry dangerously hurt?" he asked, as we started down the stairs, the men followed with the stretcher.

"I do not think so," I answered. "But he has lost a great deal of blood, and is very weak."

Harry Praises Madge.

"That will be a good thing," my father said surprisingly, "always provided it does not entail permanent injury or weakness. But it will do him no hurt to keep quiet for a while.

I caught my breath in wondering jubilation, as I realized his meaning. This injury would postpone, if it did not banish altogether, Harry Underwood's Quixotic scheme to search the underworld he once had known so well, for traces of Marion.

And then we were down in the basement and Harry was smiling wanly up at us.

"Sorry I messed things up," he said. "If it hadn't been for the Lady Fair here, I'm afraid you'd have arrived too late."

Wife Faces Domestic Tragedy

"DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

"There is another woman in my husband's life. I sensed something was wrong because he's always so dissatisfied with everything. I cook his favorite dishes, but he only tells me not to wear myself out cooking.

"We've been married seven years and have a boy of four years of age. In the near future we are to have another child, and I'm trying to avoid all nervous strain. I've lost two babies through premature birth.

"Last month my husband told me he was in love with a girl of 24; we're both 27. She knows he's married and that we have a child and are expecting another, but still she goes out with him. She surely can't be having a good time, because he's so in debt he has no money to spend on her.

"He objects to breaking up our home because it may affect our son, who already feels something is wrong. I'm very much in love with my husband and need him more now than ever before. He's out three and four nights a week, and doesn't get home until 2 a. m. I just can't depend on him. I long for a few words of love and comfort from him, but have nothing to look forward to. I dread the ordeal ahead of me. What shall I do?

"MISERABLE."

Doubtless this girl imagines, as your husband is not in a position to spend money on her, that their affair is on a very high plane. Cash-less romance is subject to that interpretation.

It's comparatively easy for people who have thrown aside responsibility to visualize themselves as hero and heroine of a great love idyll—something on the Romeo and Juliet plane (not to belittle the supreme love drama.)

But does this girl realize she is wrecking a home in which a little child of four is growing up? It's pretty hard to reconcile real love with such selfishness. And does this girl know what an unworthy thing it is to torment a woman who is trying to keep sane in the interests of a baby she is expecting?

My correspondent tells me she has already lost two babies through premature birth, and her home life at the present time is not conducive to either her health and happiness or the welfare of that little life she is expecting.

What will be his son's verdict of his father when he is old enough to realize what a weakling his father actually is? At the age of four he senses, in his baby mind, that something has gone wrong with his mother and father and the home he remembers as being a different sort of place, only a little while ago.

Here's hoping that the sorely tried wife may invoke a sense of humor over her husband's silliness; that the girl in question may look about for fairer game than a married man whose wife is trying to keep sane in the interests of an unborn baby, and that the little boy may find his home is again the happy place he remembers.

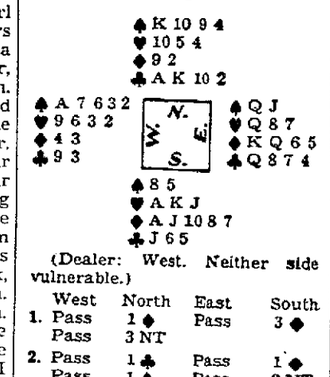
"The Authority on Authorities"

BIDDING AFFECTS PLAY

Unorthodox bidding, if done skillfully, creates an illusion about a hand which frequently results in the opponents misplaying it and giving one or more tricks away. It is likely to result in the defenders leading the very suits which the declarer would like to have them lead. If as a result they get a bad score on a hand, perhaps they should not be blamed. Sometimes you have to give credit to somebody for something effective, rather than blame somebody else for being ineffective.



(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1. Pass	1 ♦	Pass	3 ♦
Pass	3 NT
2. Pass	1 ♣	Pass	1 ♦
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

Just notice how the weird bidding by North at Table No. 1 influenced the play of this duplicate deal. East led the 4 of the unbid clubs, the 10 winning. The diamond 9 was sent through, next the 8, the A played and the J led to the K. East decided then his partner must have spades, so led the Q to the A, and the 3 came back, the K dropping the J and setting up the 10 and 9. There were in sight now also two heart tricks without finessing, two club tricks and one diamond, so the remainder were taken, scoring 5-No Trumps or two extra tricks.

With the normal bidding at the other table, West led. Figuring spades hopeless because of North's bid, he opened the 2 of the unbid hearts, the A killing the Q. The club J went through to the Q and the heart 8 lost to the A. The club 10 served as entry for leading the diamond 9. It won, and the 8 was finessed, the A cashed and the J sent to the K. East led his third heart to the K. South could take the diamond 10, club 5 to the A and K and the heart 4 to the J, but had to give up a trick at the end to the spade A. So he made only 4-No Trumps, or only one extra trick. Besides the diamond and spade tricks taken at the other table, the club Q was scored against him. In other words, failure of North at the other table to show his clubs got him a club lead worth a trick to his side.

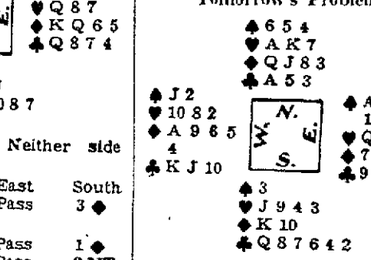
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

If North bids 1-Diamond, East 3-Spades and West 4-Spades on this deal, why is a double by North a sounder venture than with most hands containing about the same total honor strength?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, November 22
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THIS DAY may be notable for the definite breaking up of a static and depressing state of affairs, or for the decisive and permanent removal of a long-standing obstacle or frustrating circumstance. This may open the way for an enduring and bright turn toward stability, with security and progress in the fortunes and in the growth in value of real possessions and fond personal desires. But such happy state must come from quick grasp of opportunity, sound tactics and a firm curb on tongue, temper, the impulses and emotions.

Those whose birthday it is may be given the opportunity to forge ahead to security, stability of fortunes and possessions, with a felicitous background of personal domestic, romantic and social affairs, by the decisive removal of an old obstruction, or the breaking up of confirmed static or crystallized condition. A swift insight into affairs and openings, with systematic effort and well designed patterns for success should win out. But hold in leash impetuous, tumultuous and ungoverned passions and emotional flares.

A child born on this day should have much capacity, talent and stability to surmount old frustrations and defeats. This by inspiration, mentality and push, but it should be taught to curb impulses and turbulence.

Tygers Close Undefeated Season With 26-0 Victory

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Many Mansfield fans are saying the football season ended yesterday is the greatest in Tyger grid history. That could be a matter of opinion.

And many are saying that the senior team that laid aside its uniforms after the Turkey day battle with Fremont is the greatest team in Tyger history.

Not having seen all the Tyger teams since 1899 or thereabout, I wouldn't know. But I have it on the word of more than one outstanding player on more than one of the former outstanding teams that it's a fact.

But there were some greatest features about the season just closed that go without argument.

Mansfield played the greatest defensive game in its history at Massillon in that 6 to 6 tie. There couldn't have been a greater.

Mansfield played before the greatest crowd in its history. 22,000 paying customer and 3,500 who watched from the hillside at Massillon, and Mansfield fans that night saw the greatest between-halves show in any stadium in the country.

And the greatest exodus of playing strength comes with the graduation of 16 players off the top of the Tyger squad.

Mansfield had the best football programs of any school it met, better than those put out by most colleges, and as good as Ohio State's.

The Tyger band developed into the best in the school's history, and was declared the best visiting scholastic band yet seen at Massillon. Its failure to perform between-halves at yesterday's game (because of the rain, or the mud, or the too recent tussle with the turkey) took an important bit of color from the holiday proceedings.

The weather the Tygers played in throughout the season was the greatest, in its dank way, that they have ever encountered. Rain, or snow or mud or all three nearly every game.

Whether the home crowds were the greatest in history is something for Ticket Chairman George Sherman to check up. The weather cost the Tygers some where around $2,000 on home games this season as some of the fans developed an unsuspected sanity and stayed home out of the rain and wind and snow.

And the effort I've put out in writing this after-holiday column is the greatest I can do today.

Picks O'Doul For Indians

INS Writer Says He'll Be Brought From Coast.

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK — (INS) — Up until now I have sort of rambled along in this column putting one word after another and letting it come out where it might without any idea of being too fresh about anything, but now I am going to perpetrate a scoop. Here it is:

Lefty O'Doul is going to be the new manager of the Cleveland Indians.

This may backfire with an announcement from Mr. O'Doul that he prefers to remain manager of the San Francisco club in the Pacific Coast league, as any man might decide in the face of what confronts him at Cleveland.

But the story runs about this way. Mr. Alva Bradley, president of the millionaire combine that owns the Indians, used all his influence and wile to get Larry Gilbert out of the Southern Association without luck and finally decided that O'Doul was the man he needed to bring order out of chaos after all these years of experimenting with first one then another pilot.

Last year it was Oscar Vitt, discharged because of insurrections which wrecked the club's chances but over which seemingly he had no control. This year it was Roger Peckinpaugh, who had few revolutions but wound up with a notable lack of pennants.

Under the present plan, with a half dozen millionaire owners all trying to run the club, O'Doul will be brought in as a tough, hard-fisted, capable manager

Buckeyes Ready for Michigan

Brown Thinks They May Hold the Score Down.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's battling Buckeyes, scenting second place in the Western conference if they can upset Michigan's mighty Wolverines, entrained today for Ann Arbor and Saturday's grand finale of their first football campaign under Coach Paul Brown.

The Ohioans, despite their record of six wins and a defeat—the same as boasted by Michigan—were on the short end of the 12-5 odds.

"And that," Coach Brown said, "is exactly where we like to be—before the game."

Although refusing to admit the Bucks had more than an outside chance to win, the youthful Buckeye mentor grinned and said:

"If the boys can hit as hard as they did in the 'senior tackle' ceremony yesterday afternoon, and can charge through Michigan as they did through that turkey dinner last night, we might be able to keep the score down."

* * *

A dozen seniors went through the "tackle" ritual following yesterday's workout, the graduating members of the squad roaring down an aisle formed by team mates to hit the "dummy." Only Pete Hershberger, Columbus end, failed to get into the ceremony, his injuries keeping him in the background.

About 15,000 Ohio fans will be in the crowd of about 85,000 at the clash of the ancient enemies. Six special trains will carry many of them, while others are going by plane, bus, automobile and "thumb."

* * *

The Bucks were scheduled for a "warm up" jaunt over the Michigan stadium turf this afternoon, after which they will go to Dearborn for the night.

The 1941 Western conference football race will hit the final wire tomorrow.

Minnesota's finely balanced aggregation will be out to wind up the season against Wisconsin undefeated and untied, thereby running to 17 games a consecutive winning streak begun back in 1939. Victory—and the Gophers will be strong favorites over the Badgers—will bring Minnesota its sixth Big Ten title in eight years and the mythical national championship.

* * *

Should Wisconsin's high scoring eleven upset the Bernie Bierman crew the way would be open for Michigan or Ohio State to cut in for a half-share of the championship. Those schools each have conference records of three wins and one loss against Minnesota's four wins and no defeats.

* * *

At Evanston, Illinois will try for its first conference win of the season and its last victory for Bob Zuppke. The veteran coach, who retires at the game's final whistle, started his Big Ten career in 1913 when his first Illini team walloped Northwestern. Illinois will carry the sentimental hopes of many a fan into the game—with Northwestern carrying the edge in all-around strength.

Purdue and Indiana wind up their seasons with their traditional old oaken bucket battle, one which may be the day's closest battle. Iowa, with a record of three wins and four defeats behind it, will try to end the season in the .500 class with a victory over Nebraska.

OVERLIN, HOSTAK MEET IN GARDEN TONIGHT

NEW YORK —(AP)—Ken Overlin of Washington, D. C., and Al Hostak of Seattle, a pair of former middleweight champs, square off tonight at Madison Square garden to go 10 rounds or less in a light heavyweight scrap.

Since the two fighters no longer are able to get down to the middle-weight poundage, both are eyeing the light heavyweight crown worn by Gus Lesnevich.

ASHLAND RUNNER WINS THANKSGIVING DAY RACE

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Gilbert Dodds of Ashland college won the Elks' six-mile Thanksgiving Day race here in 30:56.2. Jay Parker of Bowling Green was second. Irwin J. Carroll of Cincinnati walked the same distance in 49:58, winning the walking event because the first three placers ahead of him were disqualified.

2nd Game Set For Galion

Mansfield Club Plays 'Home' Game There.

Main problem of both the Mansfield City News semi-pro grid team and the Galion Jaycees is getting together for a game.

First there was bicker about whether the Mansfield team had the nerve to play their neighbors. That problem was settled by signing to play a home and home series the first game of which Mansfield copped 13-0 in Galion.

* * *

Arrangments for the second game scheduled for Mansfield were thrown into a dither Tuesday night when the Madison high school board ruled that although willing to allow use of their field on weekdays, they were against Sunday play on the Ram field.

Fred Rizzo, City News manager, then attempted to secure the use of the Mansfield high school field but this was also refused.

Upshot of this is that Sunday the two teams will meet in Galion. Because the City Newsmen played for a low guarantee last time in Galion so that the school system there would benefit in new band and football uniforms, they will be allowed use of the Galion field as though it were their own and with police help provided.

Last time the two teams met Galion was able to advance the ball within the Mansfield 10-yard line several times and once was held on the three-yard line.

Game time is 2:30 p. m.

Three Clamor For Bowl Bid

Stanford, Oregon State, Washington In Running.

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Here's some Rose Bowl stuffing for your Thanksgiving football:

Washington State, through its volatile coach "Babe" Hollingbery, is clamoring for the Rose Bowl bid off the sensational stretch finish in the conference. The argument is sound because it is based on wins over such big ones as Oregon State, Oregon and Stanford. The Cougars have finished league chores.

* * *

Oregon State, with such victims as Washington and Stanford, plus more conference victories and no more defeats than the rest, in it has the inside track to the New Year's day party at Pasadena. The claim has merit but the Beavers have two games to go.

Washington hasn't given up hopes of sliding into the driver's seat on possible additional reverses to Oregon State. Oregon and Stanford. Oregon and Stanford supporters see similar chances for their teams.

Results of games this week-end may clarify the muddle somewhat but as of those played to date, Oregon State and Washington State have the strongest claims, the former because it has more conference wins and no more losses than the others and W. S. C. because it has completed its conference schedule with five wins and three defeats.

Those who have failed to include victories over Idaho and Montana in the standings may traveling on the wrong track. These two schools are full time members of the conference and have equal voting rights in naming the Rose Bowl representative. The fact they do not play a complete round robin schedule is not their fault. They have been willing to play any and all teams, if given the games.

Although the Rose Bowl nomination usually has gone to the team with the best record in the standings there is no conference rule relating to standings. Commissioner Edwin N. Atherton is authority for the statement. It is also his unofficial opinion, lacking a rule to express himself officially, that games scheduled with Idaho and Montana should be included in any win and loss standings compiled.

OLD BELL PRESENTED AS GRIDIRON TROPHY

CHICAGO—(AP)—A new football trophy will take its place alongside the little brown jug and old oaken bucket Saturday when Northwestern and Illinois compete for the fire bell.

The trophy is the 100-year-old bell taken from the loft of a fire station in Oshkosh, Wis. It will be presented the two schools by R. J. Erdlitz of Oshkosh, father of Dick Erdlitz, senior quarterback on the Northwestern eleven.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Frank Reagan, who hung up his shoulder pads "for good" when he left the pro Giants to join the marines, will get another chance to run tomorrow when the Quantico team plays the Baltimore Firemen. . . . Marine officials finally decided Frank still is rated as an enlisted man until he gets his commission and therefore is eligible to play. . . . Frankie Frisch writes Pittsburgh pals that he hasn't discussed any deals for Arky Vaughn even though the papers have been trading him ever since the season ended. . . . Still, the winter meetings aren't over. . . . Welterweight Harry Weekly, who traveled from Alliance to New Orleans to become a headliner, will try to show the home fans he's anything but weakly when he fights Fritzie Zivic on Ed Bang's Cleveland News Christmas fund card.

Must be a relief to fans who are disturbed by polysyllabic surnames to find Smith and a couple of Jones among the stars the past couple of week-ends.

Bill Dean of Lanagan, Mo., relays this hunting yarn: Glen D. Elliff of Anderson, Mo., went bird hunting on Armistice day and stepped right into the middle of a covey. One bird rose so close that Glen swung his gun like Joe DiMaggio's bat and dropped it, then wheeled and fired to get another. . . . And to prove it wasn't one of those hunter's dreams, Bill reports a witness was R. C. Eddings, a minister.

SLATE PRO TILT

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The exhibition game between the champion Columbus Bulls of the American Professional Football league and the New York Americans will be played Sunday. It was postponed Thanksgiving Day because of threatening weather. The Bulls' management has announced that unless the game draws a substantial crowd the club might move its franchise to another city next year.

4 Teams Bid In Ohio Race

Reserve Win Over Case Throws Standings Out.

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A conversational scrap for the mythical Ohio college football championship loomed today following Western Reserve's 26-6 Thanksgiving day thumping of Case's Rough Riders—with several squads putting forth substantial bids for the laurels.

Case was Ohio's last undefeated-untied team, and as the Scientists succumbed the Youngstown Penguins moved into the top spot with a record of seven wins and a tie. Back of the Penguins, who hit the peak in their second year of intercollegiate football, were Xavier's swashbuckling Musketeers with eight victories and a single defeat—at the hands of Kentucky.

But Western Reserve, following its massacre of Case, has a fairly good claim of its own with seven victories and a single loss. Their lone defeat was by 7-0 to Western Michigan State Teachers, and they followed that setback by romping over seven straight opponents — all from Ohio.

* * *

Ohio Northern, against Ohio opposition, came closest to the Reserve mark with five victories and a tie. Youngstown played only two Ohio foes—Ohio U. and Akron, blanking both, while Xavier did the same to Dayton and John Carroll, its only opponents from the Buckeye state.

* * *

But, no matter how they're counted, you'll have to give a fairly hefty slice to Xavier, winner of eight of nine games against the toughest sort of opposition, and the state's scoring leader with 243 points. Dayton is second with 224 in 10 games, and Denison third with an even 200 in nine. The Bid Red from Granville also takes the defensive palm by allowing only 23 points, Youngstown taking second with 28, all the others permitting 40 or more.

Hiram had the most futile offense, failing to score a point, while Rio Grande permitted the foe 383 points in eight consecutive defeats. Rio counted 20 points this season, however, after failing to get any a year ago. The Redmen haven't won a game since 1937.

Shelby Starts Cage Practice Monday

SHELBY—First call for basketball candidates will be made Monday at Shelby high school by Coach William Query.

The players have had a rest this week following the football season. Most of the cage players are drawn from the football squad.

Among the veterans returning this year are Dave Clark and Dave Lewis, forwards, and Junior Keiser and Bob Laubie, guards.

The Whippets open their cage schedule on Dec. 5 here with Crestline.

TO QUIT GAME

COLUMBUS —(AP)— John Kimbrough, former Texas A. & M. All-America halfback now playing his first year of pro football, is going to give up the game after this season, he says, to make "cowboy" pictures in Hollywood. Kimbrough, who gets $1,500 a game, plays here today with the New York Americans against the American league champion Columbus Bulls in an exhibition contest.

Pile Up 296 Points To 19 for Opponents

Fremont's Fighting Spirit Fails To Halt Mansfield Machine

By REX HESS, News-Journal Sports Editor.

MANSFIELD HIGH'S mighty Tygers rolled over a stubborn Fremont Little Giant eleven 26 to 0 at Stadium field yesterday afternoon before approximately 3,000 fans, bringing to a close a great undefeated season in which they piled up 296 points to 19 for the opposition.

The Tygers definitely moved into the circle of Ohio's big-time high school football teams this season by tying those perennial rivals for the state title, Massillon and Canton McKinley, and defeating every other opponent by decisive scores.

The season's record:

Mansfield 40, Akron West 0.
Mansfield 39, Elyria 0.
Mansfield 32, Sandusky 0.
Mansfield 31, Newark 0.
Mansfield 41, Springfield 0.
Mansfield 6, Massillon 6.
Mansfield 35, Cleveland Central 0.
Mansfield 0, Canton McKinley 0.
Mansfield 46, Shelby 13.
Mansfield 26, Fremont 0.

Slowed down yesterday by the muddy going after a rain that lasted from early morning until shortly before game time, the Tygers gave a machine-like performance in subduing the Little Giants.

And Fremont's fighting spirit every now and then threw a monkey wrench into the Mansfield machinery to halt Tyger threats. But it took more than Fremont fight to halt the Tygers forever.

Kenny Krupp sparked the Tygers to victory, scoring two touchdowns, tossing a pass for a third, and intercepting three Fremont passes. And the fans are still talking about Duke Weber's touchdown on a play they hadn't seen from the Tygers all season, although Johnny Appleseed used it frequently against John Simpson in the city junior-high title tilt—a guard-around, bootlegger play that was good for 12 yards and could have been good for many more if the goal line had been father away.

Fremont, in the closing minutes of the game, came as close to scoring without actually getting over the goal line, as it is possible to come.

Moving 70 yards against a Mansfield team liberally dotted with substitutes, Fremont gained a first down on the Tyger 18 before the regulars were rushed into the fray. But the regulars couldn't stop them from gaining another first down on the seven.

Chuck Condon batted down a pass in the end zone, and a pass from Bob Hall to Bricksiecker was good for one yard. Then a five yard penalty against Mansfield put the oval on the one yard line. Two smashes by Hall carried it only to the one-foot mark where Mansfield took over just before the gun cracked.

Once more the defense of the Tyger first team kept the foe completely bottled up, and it wasn't until the subs came in in the last period that Fremont was able to make a first down. Joe Romano's sensational play at left end set the pace for the Tyger defense which held Fremont to a net gain of two yards in the first half.

* * *

And now to the scoring. Mansfield chalked up its first touchdown late in the opening period. Bob Hall's quick kick was partially blocked and Krupp recovered on the Fremont 27 yard mark. Chuck Condon picked up two yards, and Fremont was penalized five for off side. Then Krupp galloped 20 yards for the touchdown on an off-tackle play. Condon hit the line for the extra point and it was 7 to 0.

On the last play of the first quarter, Krupp intercepted Wisbon's pass on the Fremont 38, and the Tygers scored again early in the second period.

Krupp, Condon and Bill Doolittle smashed for a first down on the 27. Lightnin' Jones, in two plays, made another first on the 15. Jones picked up another yard and Condon two before Weber came out of nowhere to take the ball on his 12-yard touchdown jaunt. He had the ball well hidden and was almost across the goal line before the Giants discovered him.

Doolittle made the point on a quarterback sneak, and it was 14 to 0.

The Tyger offense bogged down through the third period, but early in the fourth Condon intercepted a pass on the Fremont 27 to set up the next marker. After an incomplete pass, Condon picked up a yard, and a pass from Jones to Doolittle was good for eight yards. On the next play Krupp rambled 18 yards off-tackle for a touchdown. Krupp's pass for point was intercepted by Hall.

Frankel recovered a Fremont fumble on the Giants' 40 yard line to set up the final score. On the first play Krupp shot a pass to Jim Burrage, who took the ball on the 25 and scampered for a touchdown. Condon's drop kick for point failed.

Undefeated Ranks Cut

High School Unbeaten Squads Now Number 34.

(By United Press)

The undefeated ranks of Ohio high school football teams were reduced to 34 today by the initial defeat of Napoleon, 13 to 6, in its final game of the season at the hands of Bryan yesterday.

* * *

Leetonia, a class B school in Columbiana county, which had led the schoolboy elevens with 10 straight victories, was held to a scoreless tie by Salem in the traditional Turkey day battle.

* * *

Four other undefeated outfits in action yesterday came through with victories. Dayton Chaminade crushed Miamisburg, 25 to 6, for its ninth triumph; Steubenville Central Catholic repelled Father Flanagan's Boystown team, 31 to 13, for victory No. 8 against one tie; Mansfield trimmed Fremont, 26 to 0, for its eighth conquest against two ties; Lakewood defeated Cleveland West Tech, 13 to 7, for seven victories against three ties, and Toledo Libbey overcame Toledo Devilbiss, 13-0, for its eighth straight.

CHAPTER XXVIII

But Dr. Palmer himself immediately grew serious again. His sense of humor held toward Ken. But he was genuinely distressed over the hullabaloo about selecting a fiesta queen. He had expected one of his 600 university girls to be chosen casually some morning at school assembly and thus end it all. Instead, the entire college routine had been upset for days, and factionalism was extending out all over the city and state.

Under pressure he had agreed to take the election out of the usual school assembly and conduct it in the mass meeting to be held in the outdoor ampitheater, Frontier's beautiful natural assembly place in Shadow Canyon under Ho-Ho-Kam mountain. The mass meeting was scheduled for 2 o'clock this very afternoon, which is why both Dr. Palmer and his son had been worked up about it.

At a quarter of one Dr. Palmer walked out to met Joy Boone's secretary, Miss Carlson, by appointment. She had agreed to sit on the stage with him. She had, in fact, been seen more and more with the university president of late.

"Bettina," he said after they had met, "I want you to come over here a moment and look! Beyond this hedge." He led her 50 feet or so then pointed. "Behold the ampitheater — already full! It is amazing what interest this silly thing has aroused."

"Nothing is silly, Kenyon, if it touches people's hearts."

He looked down at her, a lovely little woman who hardly looked her forty years. Her sheer daintiness always impressed him, and her mentality impressed him even more.

"You are right, Bettina," he murmured. "You are quite right. And yet—will you just look, anyway. People are still coming. Most of those in seats now are adults, not our students. There won't be half enough seats."

"No. But two thousand can sit down, and ten thousand more can find seats up the slope of the mountain. Shadow canyon has perfect acoustics, you know."

He nodded. "I asked the electricians to arrange for loud speakers. I can see them already there."

A strange man came to them, holding out his hand.

"Howdy do, sir," he said. "You're the president, and you're his wife I expect, ma'am, and I'm proud to meetcha. Now I'm Oscar Hale and I'm a cow man and I'm here to say we don't want no eastern girl to come in here and take over the way she's threatenin' to do! She cain't do that just because she happens to be up to her neck in money! Anyway from all the pictures I see she's a palomino from the hide out, and it takes a coal black filly like Buck McMurray's daughter to look like a purty Spanish senorita, let me tell you!"

He had said it all in one outburst, giving no chance for the usual social amenities save to shake hands. He had a bristly week-old growth of whiskers which poked out belligerently, although there was courtesy in his tone.

Miss Carlson blushed, but Dr. Palmer bowed a little. "You make your position quite clear, sir," said he. "This lady is my freind, Miss Carlson. You will attend the mass meeting, no doubt?"

"You c'n bet a hoss I will! And we don't aim to keep quiet, neither! We'll have our say!" With that he was gone.

"I don't doubt it," murmured Dr. Palmer laconically, to Bettina Carlson. "But even so, I'm afraid it isn't a joking matter."

At about 1:30 the president and Miss Carlson were walking toward the crowded ampitheater when Joy Boone herself saw them. Joy was with a group of girls. She detached one and led her toward Dr. Palmer and Miss Carlson. The one proved to be Polly.

"Good afternoon, young ladies!" their president bowed to them, smiling. "Here it is election moment and you two are together like friends."

Polly frowned impatiently. "We're not arguing between ourselves, Dr. Palmer. It's being done for us!"

"It's all so silly," Joy agreed. But Joy's eyes were bright with anticipation, even so. "I like Polly and I expect to continue liking her."

"Thanks, Joy. You know where I stand! I wish we weren't—"

"Let's go in," Dr. Palmer said. "People are staring. I see Ken motioning to us near the rostrum. What a large crowd!"

* * *

Seemingly everybody had tried to attend this mass meeting. It had all the aspects of a political gathering. Dozens of placards on sticks advertised for one side or the other. A group of 30 or 40 girls up the hillside, beyond the tiers of rock seats, began singing a pep song backing Joy, and it was answered by another group 75 yards away cheering Polly. At the cheer, ranch men and boys stood up to shout loudly.

"Viva la fiesta!" somebody yelled, and then the whole throng cheered.

"See!" Dr. Palmer murmured to Bettina at that. "They could be united! They are merely thoughtless. Exhuberant. Momentarily they are wrought up about the matter of selecting a fiesta queen, but they are unanimous for the fiesta itself! That's significant, Bettina!"

She looked up at him nervously. "What will you do, Kenyon?"

"Wait! . . . Here is my son, with young Ward McMurray too. They have seats for the two girls. You must sit on the platform with me."

Dr. Palmer, very erect and moving with calm deliberation, assisted Miss Carlson up the steps and then turned to smile at the throng before he went to the microphone that was waiting. He glanced at his wrist watch. He held up one hand, for quiet.

"Ladies and Gentlemen," he began. "You know precisely why we have gathered here. On behalf of Phoenix I welcome you folk from out of town. On behalf of Frontier university I welcome everyone. This is your school. Please visit us often.

"And, my fellow Arizonians, it is this school about which I shall talk. Your enthusiasm here today deeply impresses me. I see many earnest faces. I know that you represent much of the wealth of our beloved state. I know, too, that while the selection of a fiesta queen is a matter likely to concern each one of us, in the final analysis it is but a passing incident, a moment-out, in play. By chance today the election concerns only two girls. I submit, citizens of Arizona, that approximately six hundred other Frontier girls sit before you also. Girls as eager, as lovable, and as worthy as any two.

"The six hundred are all this school can accommodate. We turned down applications this fall for nearly a thousand more! Further, there is a desperate need for this to be a co-educational institution, that your sons may also come here to learn.

"Friends, that is the BIG issue here!

"Service to humanity, service to Arizona, service to youth; not a cheapened rivalry which could lead to bitterness and spite! All of America in this epic decade is trying to get away from pettiness. We too must march! There is a crying demand for money with which to build and broaden this institution into the grandeur it should have. Now that you are here, may we not give a moment's thought to that?"

His impassioned plea, his winning personality which somehow had projected itself even through the loud speakers, had brought a silence to the throng. He spoke on, quietly, sensibly, profoundly.

His address was so complete a surprise that it verily shocked people. In his paternal way he shamed many of them. The election of a fiesta queen? In just 15 minutes that matter seemed forgotten! An orator was performing! A man who spoke with remarkable clarity and uncommon common sense. Polly and Joy looked at each other, then at Ward and Ken who sat beside them. Not one of the youths spoke. Everywhere the college girls and the older citizens showed rapt faces.

When Dr. Palmer had spoken half an hour he built up strongly his plea for a university endowment fund. He said that a million dollars was the very minimum needed, and that it should be only a beginning of a fund to grow throughout the years.

All at once he was interrupted. A large man stood up in the audience some 10 or 12 rows from him. The man took off a broad tan rancher's hat.

"My name is Buck McMurray," he stated, as if that were necessary. "I like what Dr. Palmer is saying. You can put me down right now for a gift of $10,000 in cash and a thousand head of yearlings. Be danged if I ain't got more property than I need anyhow!"

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

It Couldn't Be Easier! Weidner's "Budget Plan" Simplifies Used Car Purchasing—Just 3 Easy Steps!

1.

Check this list of cars and select the car and monthly payment that you think will best suit you. (Remember, the monthly payments shown include tax, title, insurance and carrying charges.)

2.

After you have selected the car that will best suit your needs and pocketbook your next step is to pay a visit to Weidner's heated used car showroom. There you can see the car you have in mind and fully discuss the terms of payment with one of the salesmen present.

3.

Then all that remains for you to do is to make the usual down payment (your present car will probably cover this) and drive away in the car of your choice. You can rest assured that you will have trouble-free driving because every car is thoroughly reconditioned and covered with a written guarantee.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—His Hero

By Harold Gray

TO HEAR YE CARRY ON, BULL, YE'D THINK MR. WARBUCKS WAS GREATER THAN ST. PATRICK--
WELL, I'D NOT GO SO FAR AS TO SAY HE'S GREATER--- BUT HE DID DRIVE TH' HUMAN SNAKES OUT O' THIS MINE-
11-21-41
HE DID NOT! IT WAS TH' ASP AND BILL SLAGG AND US AS DROVE 'EM OUT---
PHAW! AND AIN'T WE ALL HIS FRIENDS? WE WAS ONLY DOIN' IT FER HIM-- IT WAS HIS WORK WE WAS DOIN'---
DIDN'T HE RISK HIS LIFE DOWN IN THAT HOLE TO TRAP 'EM? AND DIDN'T HE OUTWIT THIM REPTILES AND THEIR PIZEN GAS? AND DIDN'T HE THIN EMPTY TH' WATER FROM TH' MINE LIKE YE'D DUMP A BUCKET? DIDN'T HE?
MAYBE YE ARE RIGHT, BULL GALLAGHER- I ADMIT HE'S TH' BEST ALL-AROUND MAN I EVER SAW-
OR EVER WILL SEE! AND LET ME HEAR NO MORE BELITTLIN' FROM ANY OF YE--- GRAB YER TOOLS AND LET'S BE GETTIN' TO WORK!

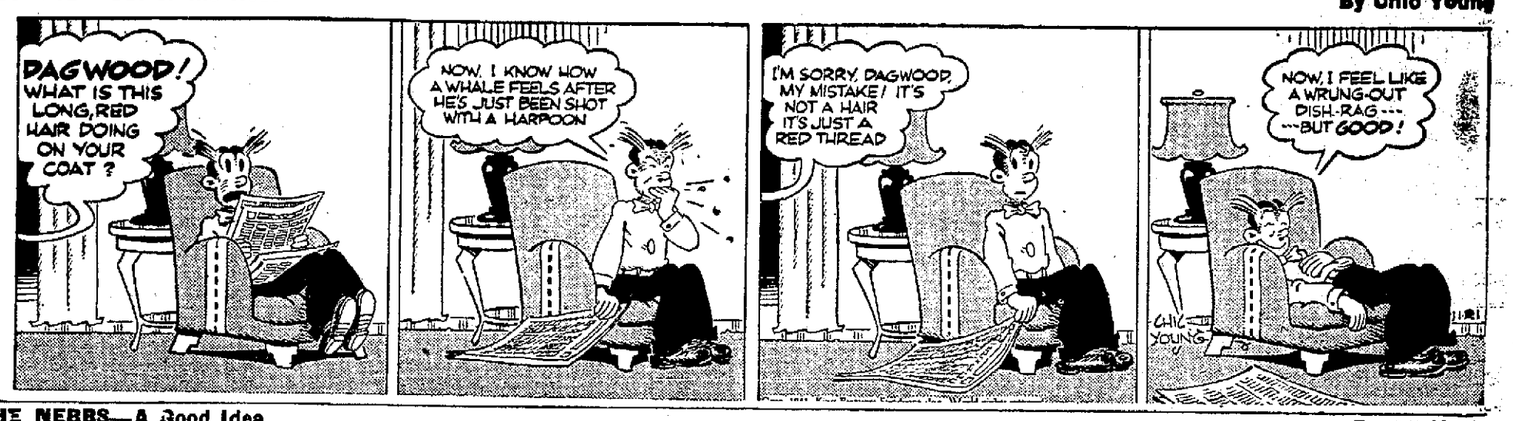
BLONDIE—Out of the Red!

By Chic Young



DAGWOOD! WHAT IS THIS LONG, RED HAIR DOING ON YOUR COAT?
NOW, I KNOW HOW A WHALE FEELS AFTER HE'S JUST BEEN SHOT WITH A HARPOON
I'M SORRY, DAGWOOD, MY MISTAKE! IT'S NOT A HAIR IT'S JUST A RED THREAD
NOW, I FEEL LIKE A WRUNG-OUT DISH-RAG--- ---BUT GOOD!

PAM—Everybody's Happy!

By A. W. Brewerton

DAVID, THAT'S WONDERFUL! AND YOU'RE WONDERFUL! HE'S REALLY CAREY GRAHAM! OH, I'M SO GLAD, SO GLAD!
HE CERTAINLY RECOGNIZED HIS FATHER; THEY HAVE A STRIKING RESEMBLANCE, TOO! I THINK WHEN HE GETS BACK TO FAMILIAR SURROUNDINGS HIS MEMORY WILL CLEAR UP. HE'S COMING UP TO SEE YOU; WANTS YOU AND THE COLONEL TO MEET HIS DAD.
11-21
FROM THE BOTTOM OF MY HEART I WANT TO THANK YOU FOR BEING SUCH A WONDERFUL FRIEND TO MY BOY!
I'M SO GLAD I CAME UP TO SEE YOU, COLONEL. IF I HADN'T I WOULDN'T HAVE MET PAM AND THEN MR. GORDON -AND MIGHT HAVE NEVER FOUND MY DAD.
SO CAREY IS YOUR FIRST NAME. WELL, WE COULD BE DISTANT RELATIVES AT THAT!

WHAT HAPPENED TO VENUS? SHE AIN'T AROUND TONIGHT
SHE'S LAID UP--SHE CRAWLED UNDER THE SIDEWALK TO GET A FEW CENTS THAT SHE DROPPED THROUGH THE CRACK AND STRAINED HER BACK
I DON'T WANT HER AROUND HERE BUT I DON'T WANT SICKNESS TO KEEP HER AWAY--- BUT A WRENCHED BACK AIN'T NO REAL SICKNESS
A LITTLE SENTIMENT AROUND THERE SOMEPLACE--I GUESS YOU KIND OF LIKE HER 11-21
WHY DON'T YOU MARRY HER?
I WAS ENGAGED TO HER A LOT OF YEARS AGO-- THAT WOULDN'T BE A BAD IDEA--I OWE HER 2000 BUCKS AND SHE'S GOT A FLOCK OF DOUGH BESIDES THAT. IF I THOUGHT I COULD MARRY THE DOUGH WITH HER I WOULDN'T HESITATE

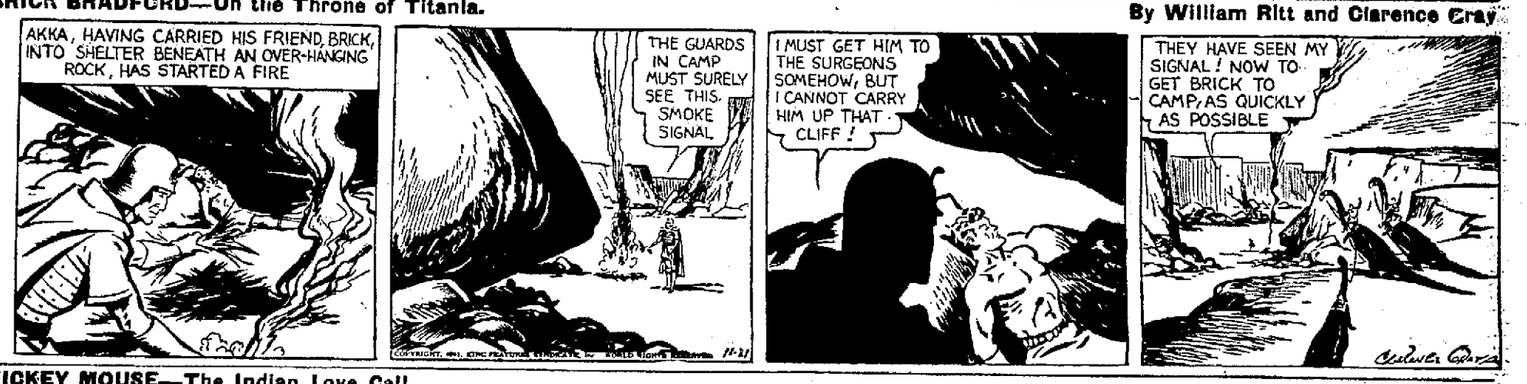
BRICK BRADFORD—On the Throne of Titania.

By William Ritt and Clarence Gray



AKKA, HAVING CARRIED HIS FRIEND, BRICK, INTO SHELTER BENEATH AN OVER-HANGING ROCK, HAS STARTED A FIRE
THE GUARDS IN CAMP MUST SURELY SEE THIS SMOKE SIGNAL
I MUST GET HIM TO THE SURGEONS SOMEHOW, BUT I CANNOT CARRY HIM UP THAT CLIFF!
THEY HAVE SEEN MY SIGNAL! NOW TO GET BRICK TO CAMP, AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE

BRINGING UP FATHER—

By George McManus

BY GOLLY-LOOKIN' OVER THIS LIST OF PROSPECTIVE BUYERS-I THINK I'LL SEND SIR VON PLATTER TO CALL AND SEE IF HE CAN'T SELL DOCTOR KUTTUP A BILL OF GOODS-
AND NOW-DO YOU UNDERSTAND HOW TO GO ABOUT SELLING THE DR SOME GOODS?
OH-YES-BUT WOULD IT BE ASKING A LOT-IF YOU GAVE ME HIS ADDRESS? AND BY THE WAY-WHAT IS HIS NAME-OR AM I TOO INQUISITIVE?
SIR VON PLATTER 'PHONED AND SAID HE HAD A TALK WITH DOCTOR KUTTUP-
WELL-THE IMPORTANT THING IS-DID HE SELL ANY GOODS?
HE DIDN'T SAY-HE TOLD ME TO TELL YOU-THE DOCTOR CHARGED HIM FOR A VISIT!

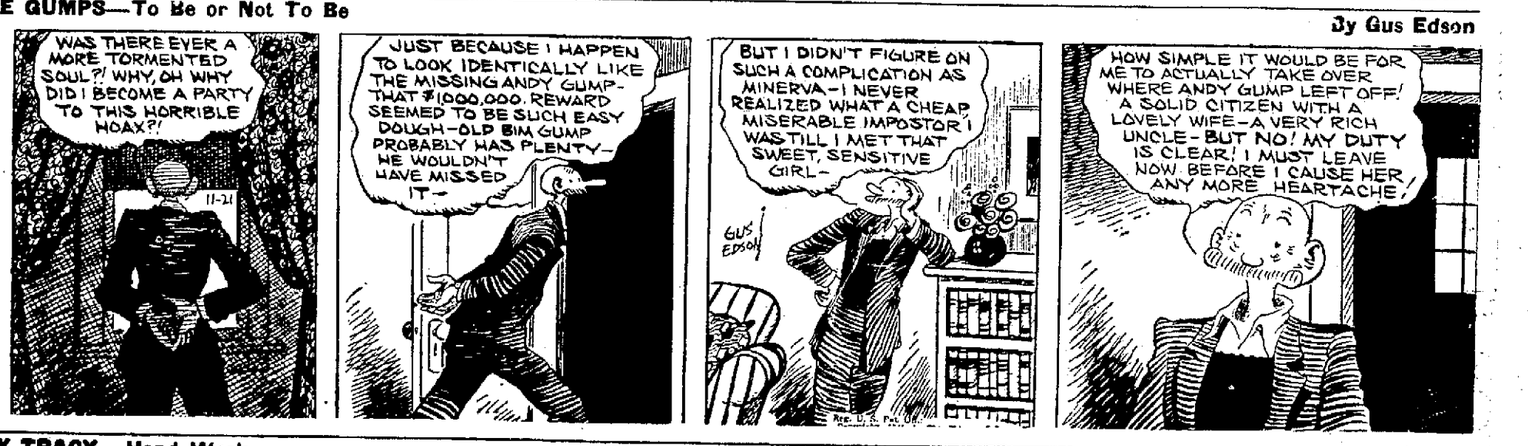
THE GUMPS—To Be or Not To Be

By Gus Edson



WAS THERE EVER A MORE TORMENTED SOUL?! WHY, OH WHY DID I BECOME A PARTY TO THIS HORRIBLE HOAX?!
JUST BECAUSE I HAPPEN TO LOOK IDENTICALLY LIKE THE MISSING ANDY GUMP-THAT $1000,000. REWARD SEEMED TO BE SUCH EASY DOUGH-OLD BIM GUMP PROBABLY HAS PLENTY-HE WOULDN'T HAVE MISSED IT-
BUT I DIDN'T FIGURE ON SUCH A COMPLICATION AS MINERVA-I NEVER REALIZED WHAT A CHEAP MISERABLE IMPOSTOR I WAS TILL I MET THAT SWEET, SENSITIVE GIRL-
GUS EDSON
HOW SIMPLE IT WOULD BE FOR ME TO ACTUALLY TAKE OVER WHERE ANDY GUMP LEFT OFF! A SOLID CITIZEN WITH A LOVELY WIFE-A VERY RICH UNCLE-BUT NO! MY DUTY IS CLEAR! I MUST LEAVE NOW BEFORE I CAUSE HER ANY MORE HEARTACHE!

DICK TRACY—Hand Work

By Chester Gould

YES, THE WOMAN'S DESCRIPTION FITS DUKE ALL RIGHT. AND A CHECK OF FINGER PRINTS ON THIS GUN SHOWS IT WAS DUKE'S!
I KNOW, PAT!
THAT MEANS DUKE WAS HIDING IN A CAR TRUNK JUST A FEW FEET AWAY AT THE TIME THE COPS WERE ARRESTING STEVE!
CENTER 26367
AS LONG AS I'M ALL CLEARED IN THIS CASE, I'M GOING BACK AND OPEN UP MY FRUIT STAND, MR. TRACY!
I'M GOING WITH YOU, STEVE!
I DO NOT LIKE PEOPLE WHO TRY TO SNEAK OUT OF THIS COZY LITTLE UNDERGROUND HOME WITH MY MONEY!
NO, MOLE! UR-R-R-(GURGLE)-UR-R-R-
DIGGING IN THE EARTH HAS MADE THE MOLE'S HANDS VERY STRONG. VERY STRONG -HA, HA!-HA, HA! VERY STRONG!

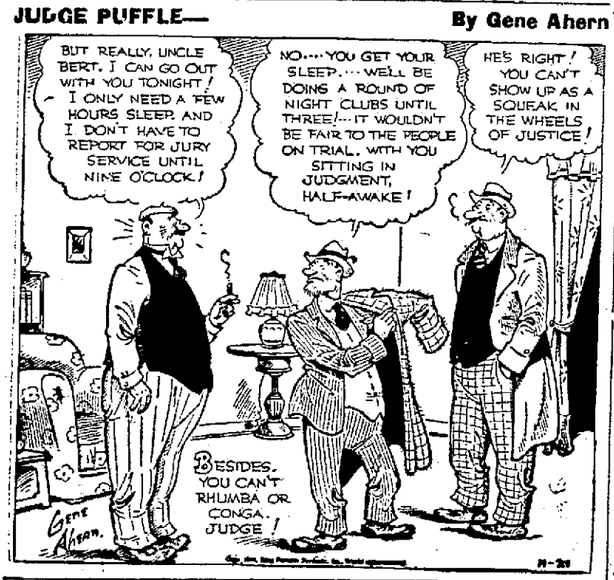
JUDGE PUFFLE—

By Gene Ahern



BUT REALLY, UNCLE BERT, I CAN GO OUT WITH YOU TONIGHT! I ONLY NEED A FEW HOURS SLEEP AND I DON'T HAVE TO REPORT FOR JURY SERVICE UNTIL NINE O'CLOCK!
NO---YOU GET YOUR SLEEP--- WE'LL BE DOING A ROUND OF NIGHT CLUBS UNTIL THREE!--- IT WOULDN'T BE FAIR TO THE PEOPLE ON TRIAL, WITH YOU SITTING IN JUDGMENT, HALF-AWAKE!
HE'S RIGHT! YOU CAN'T SHOW UP AS A SQUEAK IN THE WHEELS OF JUSTICE!
BESIDES, YOU CAN'T RHUMBA OR CONGA, JUDGE!

NEED $100? HERE'S WHAT TO DO

Tell us how much you need, $20 to $500; how much you can repay monthly; and answer a few simple questions.

Loans made three ways: (1) on signature; (2) on car; (3) on furniture. No endorsers. Friends or relatives are not told. Fair treatment in case of sickness or unemployment. Payments include charges of 2% monthly on balances of $300 or less and ½% monthly on any remainder—the same rate to everyone. Nothing else to pay. To apply—phone, write or visit office. Money ready next day—or sooner if necessary.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS SIGNS OF RECOVERY

However Many Pivotal Issues Continue To Lag; Lively Trading Reported.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK— Selective recovery leanings continued in today's stock market but many pivotal issues remained in the dissenting column.

Dealings slowed after a fairly lively opening and fractional advances were a shade in the majority near the second hour.

Bonds were steady and commodities a trifle uneven

Speculative forces found some encouragement in the war news, brokers said, but labor clouds remained as an important offset. Word that steel mills were being seriously handicapped due to fuel shortage caused by the coal strike served as a market handicap. Tax selling again was in evidence.

Comforting market-wise was the announcement of the Federal Reserve board that boosted production of machinery, armament and other durable goods lifted the American factory pace to a new high in October and the first half of November.

Boardrooms also saw an optimistic sign in the compilation of the National Machine Tool Builders' association indicating October activities in this field set a new peak and was 12.4 per cent above the previous top established in September

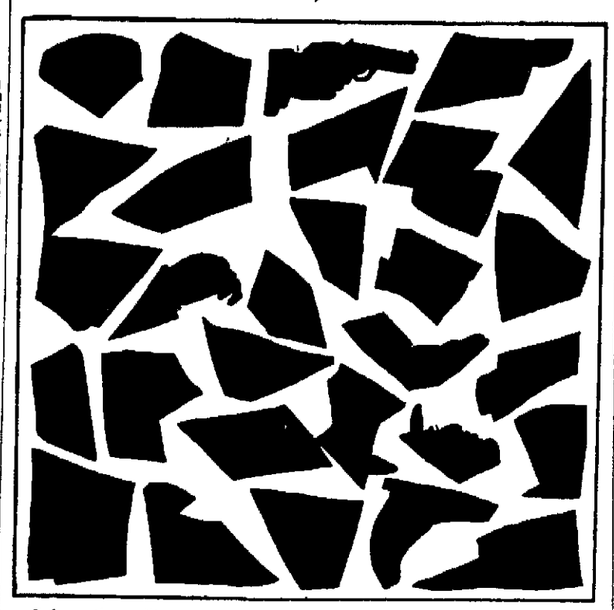
Solve Puzzle, Win Tickets



Solve the silhouette of the "Thin Man" and be eligible for tickets to the Ohio theater's presentation of William Powell's popular picture, "Shadow of the Thin Man," opening a four-day engagement Friday. The silhouette here is the first of four to appear consecutively in The News-Journal which is co-operating with the theater in sponsoring the contest. The idea is to reassemble the pieces of the "Thin Man's" shadow and submit them to The News-Journal Contest Editor not later than Monday at 6 p. m. Twenty tickets will be presented to the winners The first four winners will receive a pair of tickets and the next 12 winners will be awarded single admission tickets

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Plan Reception — The educational committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet tonight to complete plans for a party to honor 75 new citizens who were granted their naturalization papers Tuesday by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston.

Auto Looted — E. E. Stone, 54 Blanche street, told police yesterday that an auto robe and a flashlight had been stolen from his auto while it was parked in the Westinghouse lot near Wayne street. He estimated his loss at about $2.50.

Reports Burglary — For the second time within the last six weeks, F. A. Fahs, 146 South Main street, reported to police that his home had been broken into yesterday. Fahs said that the burglars got about $21. The other burglary was reported on Oct. 13.

Gas Siphoned—Donald Cramer, 555 Bowman street, told police today that the cap had been broken off his gasoline tank last night while it was parked near the Phoenix Electric company on East Fifth street and about ten gallons of gas siphoned off.

J. A. C. Board to Meet—There will be a special meeting of the board of directors of the Junior Association of Commerce at 8 p. m. today at the Tucker furniture store, North Main street, Peter Schadek, secretary, announced today.

Loses Auto Tags—Mark Thomas, 241 Richland avenue, reported to police early today that the license plates had been stolen off of his automobile while it was parked near his home or at the municipal airport. The missing tags are numbered WS457.

Hold Plumbers' Exams—Master plumbers holding licenses under the old "grandfather's clause" of the city's old plumbing ordinance will be given examinations for extension of their license today at 7 p. m. at the Health department. Under the terms of a new ordinance passed by the health board this year, the plumbers must take the exams but will not be asked to pay the added examination fee.
